Sinatra's Son Released By Kidnapers

$240,000 Ransom Paid

HOLLYWOOD (AP) —Frank Sinatra Jr., abducted from a motel on the California -Nevada border Sunday night, was released by his captors at 3:10 a.m. today in the exclusive Bel-Air district.

The 19-year-old singer's famous father told newsmen he paid $240,000 to get the boy back —no questions asked.

Friends said the boy, picked up by a private patrolman and brought to his mother's nearby home, was not harmed. The patrolman said the boy told him he was blindfolded throughout his 54-hour ordeal.

Sinatra Jr. did not talk to newsmen thronged outside the mansion of Mrs. Nancy Sinatra. But his father, long divorced from the boy's mother, spoke briefly.

Mrs. Sinatra "is speechless," he said — "and I'm about the same way."

"By the way," he said, "I might add that this is my birthday (No. 46) and this is about as good a birthday present as anyone could ask for."

Young Sinatra went to bed not long after he was brought to the home and a spokesman said he would not be disturbed until later in the day, when he probably would meet with newsmen. At 5:50 a.m., Sinatra Sr. left for his own home. Remaining with the boy were his mother and a younger sister, Christina.

The FBI in charge of the case, would not say whether any arrests had been made or were imminent.

Sinatra Sr. said "a gang of seven to nine" kidnapers was involved.

He said he paid them off in small bills, left at a pickup point on Wilshire Boulevard in West Los Angeles. He said "no deal was made" to protect the abductors after the payoff.

"They're on their own now," Sinatra said.

Bel-Air Patrolman George C. Jones said he found Frank Jr. "walking along my beat on Roscomare Road," not far from Mrs. Sinatra's home.

Jones said he was driving along the darkened road when someone yelled "Hey!"

"I looked through the rear - view mirror," Jones said, "and saw someone back there. . . so I backed up.

"I rolled down the window and this kid asked me: 'Can you drive me to Nimes Road?'

"Well, they (Mrs. Sinatra and her two daughters) live at 700 Nimes Rd. They're customers (of the patrol service.)."

Jones said young Sinatra told him he talked one of his captors into letting him go before another returned from the pickup point with the money.

Jones said the boy told him he had been blindfolded since his abduction. "He never saw any place or any of the guys who kidnaped him," the patrolman said, "but thinks there were three. He said he thought they were a bunch of amateurs, the way they operated."

Sinatra Sr., who flew here from Reno Tuesday night after being contacted about a ransom, said he had talked to his son twice while the boy was being held — once on Monday and again about 9 a.m. Tuesday.

"They wouldn't let me talk with him long," the father said. "I asked him if he was comfortable and he said he was okay.

"But you know they took him away without any socks. He just had a T-shirt and a parka. That's about as cruel as anything I can think of.

"I don't know if he was kidding me, but, he mentioned riding around in a lot of trunks. I think he meant they transferred him in the trunk of a car."

Dr. Rex Kennamer emerged from the Sinatra house at 5:15 a.m. to discuss Frankie Jr.'s condition with reporters.

"The boy is in good shape; he's not injured in any way," said the Beverly Hills physician who has also ministered to Gary Cooper and Elizabeth Taylor.

"He's in bed now and resting well. No harm has been done to him."

Dr. Kennamer said that young Sinatra had been given some pills during his capture and that he slept part of the time.

Jack Entratter, a friend of Sinatra Sr., said in Reno, Nev., that the kidnapers twice contacted the boy's father at the Mapes Hotel in Reno.

The second time, Entratter said, they "told him to go to Ron's gas station in Carson City. Sinatra arrived there at 12:45 p.m. Tuesday and the attendant, who was pretty surprised, told him:

"'Someone's been calling you here. I thought it was a gag.'

"But it was no gag. The contact man for the kidnapers then called again — either at Ron's or a nearby gas station, I'm not sure which — and told Frank that he should go to Los Angeles and he'd be contacted there.

"That was the reason for Frank's hurried flight last night to Los Angeles."

There had been no breaks in the case since young Frank was hustled from his motel room at Lake Tahoe Sunday night by two gunmen who burst in and demanded money.

The youth, whose ambition is to pursue a career like his father's, was at the mountain lake resort on the California-Nevada border for a casino singing engagement. He was about to leave his room to do a show when he was abducted.

Monday and Tuesday the FBI, plus California and Nevada law officers, combed the rugged High Sierra area for clues.

In Reno, Dist. Atty. William J. Raggio, a personal friend of Sinatra, said Sinatra Sr. received two phone calls at the Carson City station from the same man who contacted him previously.

"He was told then of the ransom demand told also that he would be contacted at 9 p.m. that night in Los Angeles at his former wife's home."

Sinatra returned to Reno, then flew to Los Angeles. At 9 p.m. Tuesday he was contacted at Mrs. Sinatra's home. Arrangements were made for a courier to bring $240,000.

At 2 a.m. Sinatra left the home, with the headlights on his car out so newsmen could not follow. He returned 35 minutes later after presumably delivering the ransom.

Then, 45 minutes later, Frank Jr. arrived in a private patrol car.

Measure Hailed

Senate Approves College Aid Bill; Sent To Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has sent to President Johnson the $1.2-billion college construction aid bill — hailed by its supporters as the most important measure of its kind in a century.

Democratic leaders said jubilantly after the 54-27 vote that they looked to education as the brightest feature on the record of the 1963 session of Congress.

They said the college measure would be followed, perhaps late this week, by a $1.56-billion vocational education bill on which Senate-House conferees reached final agreement Tuesday.

And they pointed to the $231-million medical education bill, carrying funds to build new medical and dental schools and to make loans to students in these fields, signed Sept. 24 by the late President Kennedy.

Under the college bill, the nation's 2,100 private and public colleges would be eligible for aid to help in building classrooms, laboratories and libraries.

However, priority would go to those making plans to expand their facilities sharply to help meet the doubling of enrollments, expected to reach 7 million by 1970.

The three-year measure authorizes annually $180 million in grants to four-year colleges, $120 million in loans for the same institutions, $50 million in grants for public junior colleges, and $25 million the first year plus $60 million each the second and third for grants to graduate schools. The programs would be on a matching basis.

The grants would be limited to buildings to be used for instruction of research in the natural and physical sciences, engineering, mathematics and modern foreign languages, and for libraries.

These restrictions were written in because many legislators felt that across-the-board grants were unconstitutional under the First Amendment to the Constitution prohibiting Congress from making any law respecting an establishment of religion.

Supporting the college aid bill were 37 Democrats and 17 Republicans, while 17 Democrats and 10 Republicans voted no.

By End Of 1964

More Jobs Are Forecast With Crucible Expansion

Employment should increase 200 to 300 by the end of 1964 in stainless steel operations as the result of a $10 million expansion program announced in November for the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co.

This was one of the pertinent points that developed from a year-end news conference Tuesday afternoon at the Midland plant.

J. C. Gill, vice president in charge of production and works manager, and W. E. Gregg, senior vice president, conducted the meeting attended by representatives of the press, radio and television.

"THE PAST YEAR has been one of the plant's most dynamic periods," Gill said in reviewing the progress.

"A large part of the Midland Works has been modernized, including practically all of our finishing facilities. The result has been to offer us an efficiency without which we would be in a precarious position for continuing business today."

Of major interest were these disclosures:

1.—Some $50 milllion has been spent in the last five years on plant improvements in an effort to keep it competitive with other steel producers, domestic and foreign, as well as with producers of other materials in direct competition with steel.

2.—The stainless steel facilities operated at 100 per cent capacity during the past year and 100 per cent operation looms in the months ahead.

3.—Employment has been stable since 1961, with 6,300 now on the payrolls. A steadily increasing demand for products is anticipated, along with a steadily increasing level of employment.

4.—A final recommendation is planned by mid-1964 on an extensive program designed to

Hall Resigns School Posts

Mayor-Elect Clears Deck For City Duty

Mayor-elect Merrill D. Hall has submitted his resignation as a high school teacher and athletic director effective Dec. 20 to devote full time to the mayor's post he will assume Jan. 1.

The resignation probably will be accepted by the Board of Education at its meeting Monday night.

The board also may consider the appointment of a substitute to take Hall's post as a teacher of a general business course. A decision also may be made on his successor as athletic director although Supt. Paul H. Blair said he is not ready yet to make a recommendation.

The new mayor has been on the faculty here for 19½ years and has been a teacher for 35 years. He served two years as reserve basketball coach and from 1946-56 as varsity cage coach.

New College Branch Slated For Weirton

West Liberty Given Approval To Open Unit In September

CHARLESTON (AP) — An initial enrollment of about 150 is anticipated for a two-year branch which West Liberty State College will open in Weirton next September.

The State Board of Education Tuesday gave West Liberty authority to open the branch, contingent upon completion of a formal agreement with the Hancock County school board for its operation.

President Paul Elbin of West Liberty told the board that Hancock has 40,000 people, and that 2,000 students are enrolled in the two public senior high schools there.

Hancock County school board members have provided the initial enrollment estimate, and Elbin said that he had no reason to disagree with it.

The Hancock board included facilities for the branch college

Midland Man Found Guilty In Gambling

A Beaver County Court jury Tuesday afternoon convicted Benny Smothers of Midland on charges of lottery and establishing a gambling place. Earlier, Anthony Spisak of McKees Rocks pleaded guilty to a charge of lottery.

Sylvia Draker, also of Midland, who was indicted for a similar offense, signed a guilty plea this morning.

All were indicted by the Beaver County Grand Jury in November after being charged by the State Police.

Other cases slated during the present session of court at Beaver, which began Monday, are various charges of burglary and larceny against Lovelle Coleman, Pedro Lopes and Alonzo Williams of Midland and area.

Miners Hold Hostages

Clashes Feared In Bolivia Strife

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—Fears of clashes heightened today as peasant militiamen were reported marching to Bolivia's tin mines to defend President Victor Paz Estenssoro's government against rebellious Communist-led miners.

Reports reaching Bolivia's capital said bands of armed peasants were moving on Oruro, hub of the mining district, and planned to set up camp there in a show of support for the government.

Oruro is 30 miles north of Catavi, where dissident miners are holding 15 hostages, including four Americans, in retaliation for the government's arrest of two Communist mine union leaders.

The government asked Tuesday night for U.S. arms, including planes, to effect the release of the hostages but gave no indication it planned an immediate attack.

Paz Estenssoro, under heavy U.S. pressure to secure the release of the captives, moved cautiously to assure their safety. It was feared any precipitious move might touch off widespread conflict.

The government warned the miners their food supplies would be cut off unless they released the hostages by tonight. It showed no inclination to exchange two jailed Communists for the hostages which the miners demand.

Leftist union leaders in Oruro exhorted workers to make a stand against the peasant militiamen.

About 3,000 government troops are also poised in Oruro, high in the Andes 120 miles southeast of La Paz.

'Blue Law' Upheld

Store Manager Fined $25 For Operating On Sunday

Upholding the constitutionality of the Ohio "Blue Law" that permits sale of only certain items on Sunday, Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today convicted the manager of a Dresden Ave. store of violating the statute and imposed a fine of $25 and costs.

He meted out the penalty after a lengthy hearing in the case of Thomas J. Covey of Irish Ridge Rd., manager of the Eastern Discounts store, 632 Dresden Ave., accused of "permitting a building to be open for transaction of business on Sunday."

COVEY'S fined was paid immediately out of an appearance bond of $107.50 which he posted after he was taken into custody by Patrolman Jerry Adkins. Covey previously had pleaded not guilty.

The defendant was represented by Atty. Donald E. Smith, who attacked the constitutionality of the law and declared it is "discriminatory" because it allows one person to do business on Sunday, but forbids another.

Asst. Solicitor Richard J. Clark appeared for the prosecution. Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper was at the counsel table, but did not participate actively.

The defense based its case entirely on argument by counsel. Covey did not testify. Launched at 9:20, the case concluded at approximately 10:45. It attracted several business-

Burglars Get $120 Cash In School Entry

Bus Also Stolen At Southern Local But Is Found Later

A loss of some $120 in a burglary at the new Southern Local High School and theft of a school bus near the Route 39 school were being investigated today by Chief Deputy Sheriff Robert Beresford.

The school entry, discovered this morning by a school custodian, was made by an intruder using a pipe wrench to strip the door locks, first on the boiler room to enter and then on interior office and classroom doors.

Money from a student deposit on locks for lockers, along with some office money and change from vending machines, was taken Deputy Beresford said.

Ther was little other damage or ransacking by the burglar who apparently took time to drink some milk in the cafeteria area.

The burglary was the first for the school building, opened in

New Light Snow Due With Colder Tonight

The Ohio weatherman had only bad news for motorists and highway crews — light snow today and tonight and windy and colder Thursday.

Some parts of Ohio may get one to 3 inches of new snow, Western Pennsylvania up to 4 inches and the Northern West Virginia Panhandle possibly 3 inches.

The Ohio Valley can expect possibly a light freezing drizzle with its snow with the temperature not expected to exceed the 32-degree mark today.

If there is snow tonight it may end with flurries as the temperature dips to a low of 18 to 24. The downtown had 27 at 6 a. m.

The colder trend tomorrow may last through Monday with temperatures to average 6 to 10 degrees below normal.

On Cannons Mill Hill

5 Of Area Hurt As Autos Crash Nearly Head-on

Five area residents — including a youth scheduled to enter the armed services — were in local hospitals today, victims of a near head-on collision of two cars on the Cannons Mill Hill shortly after midnight.

Drivers in the crash which occurred at 12:10 a. m. about a third of a mile north of Cannons Mills on Route 30 were Harris William Shasteen, 39, of 255 W. 7th St. and Carroll Glenn Pickens, 40, of Cream Ridge Rd.

They are Martha Eddy, 13, and Diane Eddy, 15, and their mother, Mrs. Goldie Eddy, of 501 Railroad St. and James Shasteen, 17, of Hanoverton R. D. 1.

Pickens is in City Hospital with facial lacerations, possible fractured ribs and chest injuries. He was in "fairly good" condition.

Martha Eddy, a student at East Junior High School, was in "poor" condition with a possible skull fracture and internal injuries.

Her sister, Diane, also an East Junior High School student, was in "fair" condition with possible rib fractures.

Mrs. Eddy was treated last night for shock, a puncture wound of the leg and bruises of the face.

Young Shasteen was slated to enter the military service today, and had visited the Eddy family last night. He was being taken home when the crash took place, the family said.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said Pickens, headed downhill, went left of the center line and his 1963 Ford convertible collided almost head - on with the oncoming 1955 coach operated by Shasteen. Officers said the mishap occurred on a

Dr. F. H. Norton Named

Massachusetts Scientist To Get Bleininger Award

Dr. Frederick Harwood Norton of Massachusetts Institute of Technology was named Tuesday night to receive the 1964 Albert Victor Bleininger Memorial Award "for distinguished achievement in the field of ceramics."

Announcement of Norton's selection was made at a dinner meeting of the Pittsburgh Section of the American Ceramic Society last night at Stouffer's Restaurant in the Oakland section of Pittsburgh.

Presentation of the gold medal and scroll symbolic of the award will be made at a dinner meeting of the section in March.

Associated with MIT since 1924, Norton is head of its Ceramics Division. His works have been published widely in more than 100 technical papers and he is the author of several widely-used textbooks in the field of refractories and ceramics. Norton resides in Gloucester, Mass.

The award was established in 1948 as a memorial to the late Dr. A. V. Bleininger, who was director of research for the Homer Laughlin China Co. The winner of the 17th annual award was chosen by a committee headed by R. A. Witschey of the A. P. Green Fire Brick Co. at Tarentum.

Winner of the 1963 award was Dr. Herbert Insley of Washington, a retired employe of the National Bureau of Standards.

Principal speaker at the section's dinner meeting was Paul V. Johnson of Geneva, Ill., president of the American Ceramic Society. He is associated with the Structural Clay Products Research Foundation in Geneva.

In making the award, the committee commented that Norton is widely known throughout the ceramic industry.

The major developments in research and technology in the field of ceramics since World War I have been influenced greatly by Norton and his students. His work in the field of refractory technology includes studies of high temperature creep, thermal conductivity, resistance to thermal stress and numerous other phases of this basic industry.

He also is credited with outstanding work in the field of differential thermal analysis, rheology of clay - water systems and mechanisms of iron exchange in clay-water systems.

Norton was graduated from MIT in 1918 with the degree of bachelor of science in physics. He immediately became associated with the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, now NASA.

He served first as assistant physicist and then as chief physicist. In 1922, he was ap-

Midland Mill Gives Report On Busy Year

5.—In the light of several recent tragic accidents in the district involving trucks of other concerns, Crucible has launched a comprehensive study of its own truck-loading practices with the view of making the operations as safe as mechanically and humanly possible.

6.—A better atmosphere has developed between labor and management during the year, with "a maturing understanding in the plant and in the community area of the interdependence existing in mutual advancement".

GILL, IN reviewing the air pollution problem, made it quite clear that Crucible has no intention of handling the matter halfway.

In reviewing what has been done to date, the works manager pointed out that some $160,000 already has been spent or allocated to get the anti-pollution ball rolling.

The figures were broken down as follows:

$25,000 already spent and $25,000 more allocated for open hearth corrective action;

$55,000 earmarked for a dust collection system which will be incorporated in a new hot scarfing unit to be installed next year in the blooming mill;

$45,000 for a dust collection system which will be completed shortly at the coke plant;

$5,000 for new pumping equipment which has been installed at the slag disposal installation, with the water used to help keep down the dust;

$5,000 spent this year for conversion of a forge furnace from coal to gas. The improvement eliminated the last of the coal furnaces.

In addition, many of the dirt areas have been paved or sprayed with oil and calcium chloride.

OF PARTICULAR interest to East Liverpool was the recapping of circumstances which led to the closing of the National Drawn division here in September of 1962 and the ultimate disposition of the labor force which was affected.

Gill explained that the National Drawn operation was not profitable at the time and it was decided to transfer all the facilities to the Midland Works and dispose of the property.

At the time of the decision to shut down the division in East End, National Drawn was employing 81. When the move was made to Midland only 23 were employed at the beginnning. But eventually this figure jumped to from 60 to 100 as against the number laid off originally, Gill said.

He declared that under automation it generally means "cutting here, but adding somewhere else" because of additional business in new areas of production.

On the subject of employment in the area generally, Gill said the Midland Works was interested in the problem from several aspects.

He called attention to the changing employment requirements brought on by a rapidly-developing technology. "Our employment needs today are already drastically different than they were even 10 years ago and young people are not adequately prepared to fill them. What can we do cooperatively with educators and parents to correct the situation in the future? This is a matter of real interest to us not only as an employer but as a member of this commmunity sincerely interested in its good future."

"Symposiums" for area high school students are among steps already taken by Crucible to help meet the problem.

pointed director of research for the Babcock & Wilcox Co., which marked the beginning of his intense interest in the ceramics field.

In 1924, he returned to MIT to accept an appointment in teaching and research in the department of metallurgy. Since that time, he has devoted his energy to teaching and research. He rose to a full professorship and then to head of the Ceramics Division.

He is a Fellow of the American Ceramic Society and the Physical Society and an honorary member of the British Ceramic Society. He has been awarded honorary doctor's degrees by Alfred University in Alfred, N. Y., and by the University of Toledo.

The medal he will receive bears the likeness of Dr. Bleininger, one of the founders of the American Ceramic Society who attained great prominence for his contributions to the advancement of ceramics.

SHASTEEN is believed to work at the Homer Laughlin China Co. The family moved to the W. 7th St. home earlier this year.

The Hanoverton area youth, a cousin of the Eddy family, was to enter the Army today, relatives said.

The crash was one of a number investigated by the patrol in the past 24 hours, most in the northern area of Columbiana County and caused by snow-slicked raods.

John A. Samu, 32, of Lisbon was treated at Salem City Hospital for cuts of the nose, chest bruises and abrasions of the arm after his car rammed a sign and utility pole along Route 164 a half mile south of Columbiana yesterday morning.

Jack Baker, executive head, said the school does not ordinarily keep money in the offices or classrooms.

The bus, a 1963 60-passenger model operated by Wilbur Hays, was found this morning in a ditch about a mile northwest of the school. It had been taken from Hays' filling station across the highway from the school.

Whether the bus, which was undamaged, was taken by a prankster or by the burglar, was being further investigated by Deputy Beresford and school officials.

Crucible's Future Looks Bright

One came away from Tuesday's press conference at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. with the encouraging feeling that the future is bright for the industrial giant which means so much to the district's economy.

In his year-end review of progress, John G. Gill, vice president in charge of production, made it clear that Crucible is looking ahead to even greater things in its stainless steel operation.

In pointing to $50 million spent in the last five years on plant improvement to keep in step with competition, he noted that the investment was made with the fullest confidence in the future of the area, its people and the abilities of its working force.

This is a far cry from the not too distant past when rumors were flying that Crucible might pick up and leave for greener pastures.

From first-hand observation, it becomes increasingly evident that Crucible management has managed well and is ready, willing and able to march forward on the industrial front.

Ice And Snow

Ice and snow have returned — and with them the danger of falls.

This is one of the things most feared by those in the upper age brackets. Bones become more brittle and falls more damaging as one grows older.

Those who reside in the residential areas and those in the business district can do their part to ease the danger by keeping their sidewalks clean.

Annual Legislative Sessions

The dizzying pace maintained by the Ohio General Assembly during its deferred session last week has revived interest in the perennial plea for annual sessions of the legislature.

To many, last week's lawmaking binge appeared to be too much too fast. Complex and controversial proposals were pushed through the legislative wringer under the kind of pressure that denied the deliberation a normal session affords.

The five-day session left some legislators with the impression that the system may be getting out of whack in Ohio. Decisions by the executive branch need more than token consideration by the legislative branch.

The Little Hoover Commission has pointed out that, from a financial standpoint alone, Ohio could benefit from annual sessions. The advantages of year-to-year budgeting, with closer scrutiny on spending, is obvious.

ASIDE FROM finances, Ohio's problems are growing in proportion to its population. Education, welfare, mental health, labor, civil rights and the elderly are among subjects deserving more than biennial consideration.

There are drawbacks, to be sure. It is doubtful that legislators would vote themselves more work without more pay. Yet, there are those who contend legislators are overpaid now, receiving $10,000 in two years for less than one year's work.

At the current rate of pay, Ohio might wind up with only two classes of legislators if annual sessions were approved? The wealthy, for whom lawmaking is a hobby, and the shady, who get compensation under the table.

IN EFFECT, Ohio has been moving toward annual sessions for years.

The Assembly has been called back into session at least once during each biennium since 1957.

Dissatisfaction expressed by lawmakers themselves at the way last week's session was handled would indicate that more attention should be given to annual sessions when the subject arises again—as it surely will—in 1965.

Changing The Succession Law

If there is going to be another shakeup of the presidential succession law, Congress should start the next time with a list of things it does not want to do.

The last time, it started with one thing it did want to do—move the late Sam Rayburn, then speaker of the House, into the head of the line of succession, right after the vice president. It overlooked everything else, including the present situation of aged Speaker John W. McCormack being in line for the presidency.

FIRST, it should not try to shift executive authority from the executive branch to the legislative branch, which is the effect of the present succession law putting the speaker of the House of Representatives and the president pro tem of the Senate ahead of Cabinet members.

Second, it should not make it possible for executive authority to be shifted from the party whose candidate won the presidency to the party that lost the presidency. There should be assurance of political continuity. If Republicans control the presidency, they should continue to control it, regardless of what happens to the men who headed the ticket.

This principle has been solidly established in government. It is illogical and unfair to shift an office from one party to another because of an incumbent's death while serving a term. Whenever politicians do it, because they have not been forbidden to do it by law, they detract from the respect they would like to have from their constituents.

IF NOTHING better comes to mind, succession law revisers might give thought the next time around to putting party leaders of the House and Senate next to the vice president, if they don't want to return to the former plan of Cabinet members, starting with the secretary of state.

This would guarantee party continuity, even though shifting authority from the executive to the legislative branch of government.

Common Sense About Guns

It is possible to agree with scoffers who say stricter rules about selling guns would have no effect on misuse of guns by potential murderers and still insist it is shocking that Lee Oswald, the apparent assassin of President Kennedy, was able to buy an Italian carbine with a telescope sight by mail, using an assumed name, and get it with no questions asked.

Let it be assumed he could have come into possession of a gun some other way and it's still shocking to realize how careless Americans have been about firearms.

A RECENT checkup indicates that only seven states require a permit to buy a gun. Only one state, South Carolina, makes the sale of a gun illegal. Only one state, Hawaii, requires guns to be registered.

New York requires a license to possess a handgun. Seven states and the District of Columbia require a waiting period between purchase and delivery of a gun.

It is easier to buy a gun in this country than it is to buy a drink of alcohol, a bottle of chloroform, or enough paregoric to quiet a baby. The United States has gone gun-happy because of a provision in its Constitution protecting the "right of the people to keep and bear arms."

This right was related in the Constitution, however, to the right to maintain a "well-regulated militia." It is archaic.

Even so, no one is advocating that guns be barred, only that it be made difficult for persons who have no reasonable explanation for wanting a gun to buy one. Lee Oswald had no reasonable explanation.

ANY KIND of a law to keep guns out of the hands of persons known to be incapable of handling them responsibly would be better than no law at all.

The constitutional right to maintain a militia by owning guns surely does not mean Americans must accept the role of clay pigeons for every fool, maniac, child, felon and malcontent with an itchy trigger finger.

Purely Personal

I am impressed with the fact the New Yorker Magazine has some of the best reporting of our era, including most recently a masterful account of the issue of Italian control of the Roman Catholic Church being argued to a showdown in the Ecumenical Congress.

Doctors and newspapermen share the prospect of being boxed in by the legal profession's ruthless use of malpractice and libel suits — not the suits, themselves, but the inordinately large amounts asked for in damages and allowed by judges and juries under the legal spell.

When you stop to think about it — and not many of us do — we are having all these upsetting thoughts lately because the murder of our president jarred us out of a complacency that had been a great many intolerable things seem commonplace for the time-being — and the effect promises to be good for many of the things ailing us.

You no longer belong to the ascendant generation if you can remember when Studebaker was the trade name for a sturdy wagon, before it was used to denote what at one time was considered to be a sturdy auto.

Whenever I see stylized drawings of females in newspaper and magazine ads, I am glad the female I gawk at oftenest doesn't look like the drawings, never did and never will, provided she doesn't get run over by a road roller.

A letter from a friend in Houston says other Texans are dry-eyed about the troubles Dallas is having in the wake of the assassination horror because they have felt for a long time that Dallas deserved whatever could happen to it that was bad.

Is Cuba The Workers Paradise?

By Victor Riesel

SAN JUAN, P.R. — When I breakfasted in Caracas recently with Romulo Betancourt, president of Venezuela, we ate in a home protected by machine gunners. The President was cautious but not frightened, though Fidel Castro's men had attempted to kill him several times.

Victor Riesel

Those machine guns, said Betancourt, will do no good against a distant sniper with a high powered rifle. He could pick you off, poof, like that.

We spoke then of the young men and women who had sniped at fast cars bringing travellers in from the airport and of the university students standing on a knoll on school grounds taking pot-shots at people in nearby buildings.

They believe themselves revolutionists, said Betancourt. They answer Castro's constant broadcast calls for a revolution in your country as well as mine.

The bearded one, Betancourt added, has convinced these young Marxists that he has built a workers' paradise on his island.

I recalled the words of the Venezuelan president during my stay in Puerto Rico — where I'm representing a government committee at a Caribbean conference called by the American Foundation on Automation and Employment, Inc.

WHY ARE some young people willing to kill for Communism? Is it that capitalism, with all its Madison Avenues, can't tell its story?

Here are two islands — Puerto Rico and Cuba. Both were freed by the United States from Spain. Both are lush and in the almost perpetual sun.

But Cuba has been dragged into the black hole of poverty and starvation, while Puerto Rico has pulled itself up by its "Operation Boostrap" into a second phase which its leaders now call "Operation Serenity."

Cuba's per capita income now is $185 a year. Food, medicines, shoes, clothing, electric power, spare parts and the simplest of conveniences, such as razor blades, are rationed. Yet as recently as 1957, the per capita income was $374 a year, making Cuba fourth in per capita income in all of the Caribbean and Latin America.

In 1958, just before Castro came to power, Cuba occupied fifth place among all nations—of the world — in the percentage of total national income devoted to work remuneration.

FULLY TWO THIRDS of the island's income went to workers.

In this respect, only three Western Hemisphere countries and one European nation surpassed Cuba. These were the United States, Canada, Panama and Great Britain.

Yet today the average income of each Cuban is about $3.50 a week.

Compare this with Puerto Rico, which Castro vows he will "free".

Some 20 years ago Puerto Rican per capita income was $121 a year. Today it is over $600 a year — more than three times that of once prosperous Cuba.

Ten years ago there were fewer than 60,000 Puerto Rican families which had an income of $3,000 or more. Today more than 120,000 families top this figure.

When "Operation Bootstrap" began, Puerto Rico's annual net income was $225 million. Ten years later it hit $638 million. Today it is over $1.75 billion. In a few years total income will pass the three billion dollar mark.

How was this accomplished? Simple free enterprise. In the 1940s Puerto Rico was the pauper of the Caribbean.

It had a one crop economy—sugar. Now it has more than 800 diversified modern manufacturing plants. New ones—including the first automobile parts factory (being built by Ford) — are going up at the rate of over 100 installations a year.

PUERTO RICO'S workers are free people. Compare this then with the 125,000 members of Cuba's National Federation of Construction Workers.

On the night of Sept. 11, the heavy equipment workers, members of the federation, met in Havana's National Labor Palace. They passed resolutions protesting low pay, long hours and brutal treatment.

When Castro's labor chief, Lazaro Pena tried to quiet them, they shouted: "We are hungry. We want freedom! We want work!"

This is symptomatic of Cuba's "paradise." There is heavy unemployment. There are wages so low they are practically sub-subsistance pay. There is no freedom -- no freedom to strike, to leave one's job, to bargain collectively. There is no minimum wage, no overtime pay, no holiday pay, no pay for lunch breaks, no paid sick leave, no Christmas bonus, no protection against arbitrary discharge.

There is only speed-up on the assembly line, starvation in the homes, forced labor — unpaid — in the sugar fields at harvest time.

Is this the "paradise" for which some young people fight?

Public Indifference

FCC Seen Lacking Control Of TV Commercials

One of the most dangerous tendencies nowadays is the inclination to deal with any inconvenience in the life of the nation by saying, "let the government take care of it." Yet this is the way indifference builds up that can lead eventually to destruction of individual initiative and enterprise in the community.

David Lawrence

The latest example of this trend is the announced determination of the Federal Communications Commission to regulate what shall be presented to the people on radio or television. No such power is really granted under the Constitution to any governmental agency. The FCC insists it is not applying censorship but merely fixing "standards," yet the very word furnishes a device for governmental intrusion whenever it pleases. A subcommittee of the House Commerce Committee has just approved a bill to prohibit the commission from wielding any such power, but the FCC is holding hearings nevertheless in the belief that it does have this authority.

Just now the controversy is centering on how many commercials can be used in connection with a given program. Offhand, this might seem a plausible regulation.

The average person doesn't like to have his radio or TV programs interrupted so much and, on the surface, it would appear logical that the FCC should have control over commercials. But those who acquiesce in the use of such authority haven't stopped to examine just what is involved, especially the possibility that television and radio can be materially weakened by governmental intervention.

IF THERE ARE too many commercials, for instance, the public has the right to decline to listen to them and the advertisers could soon discover that they are not getting the sales results they anticipated.

This is the natural way for the subject to be dealt with under a free-enterprise system. Newspapers and other publications have sometimes been faced with complaints about too much advertising and too little reading matter, but have found their own solutions on the basis of what makes for effective advertising as well as what makes for consistent reading of the publications themselves.

If, however, the government is to step in and regulate media of expression, the responsibility for a business failure that may ensue is not going to be assumed by the government.

It's the business itself which will have to bear the expense and the losses when it finds itself with reduced profits and diminished opportunities adequately to compensate its employes. A business that has to adjust its operations to the response of the public is likely in the long run to be better able to serve the people than one which has to tailor its operations to suit governmental whims.

The commercials which sustain a radio or television program furnish the money to pay for the over-all cost of the talent, the cost of the various stations and their personnel and the cost of the services of the many individuals employed in the actual production of shows.

The whole operation involves the delicate question of price-making by the broadcasting companies.

THE AMERICAN people have steered clear of price control except in wartime. To tell the radio or TV stations how many commercials they can carry is in reality to fix prices.

It means that, instead of the cost being spread over several advertisers, it will have to be borne by a smaller number who will have less frequency and less time on the air and pay a higher price. This may force TV and radio advertisers to turn to other media which may become more economical.

This constitutes governmental interference with price-making by a private enterprise. It negates the principle back of the whole free-enterprise system.

It's argued, of course, that radio and TV are different, because the air waves are controlled by the government. This is tantamount to saying that, because the government builds the highways, it may determine how often certain cars can use such thoroughfares or at what prices the goods transported thereon are to be sold.

It implies that, because the government controls the air waves, it can decide whether they shall be used for music or drama or comedy and to what extend each form of entertainment shall be allowable.

If the government is to take over everything connected with the air waves just because it was originally given the power to prevent collision of frequencies or to regulate mechanical operations on the air due to the limited number of wave lengths, then in the end government control can be envisaged for every form of publication—including the printed word—on the theory that the government transports the publications in the mails.

Public indifferent is the usual reason why government gets deeper and deeper in control of private enterprise.

Office Party On Skids

By Ken McKenna

Merry Christmas, I think, or if you want to celebrate, do it after office hours.

Who can say who was disillusioned first, the employer or the employe. No matter. Office Christmas parties are on the skids.

This year 10 per cent fewer companies in New York City will sponsor such celebrations. Once the corporate Yule festival was a spectacle to behold. Come fill the cups, cried the clerks, and suddenly pretty secretaries became more important than vice presidents.

Every desk was a private bar, back-office files turned as popular as a drive-in movie on Saturday night. Whisky was on the company and who cared about tomorrow.

THE TOMORROW after Christmas most everyone, cared, from the president, who told too many lies to the junior executive who told too many truths, to the secretary who believed them both.

The Commerce & Industry Association of New York, Inc., which views these activities with a no-nonsense attitude, surveyed 258 companies of all types and discovered that only 31 per cent were paying for any such rites this holiday season.

Back in 1956, some 46 per cent of the companies rollicked with their employes, and the situation has been getting less jolly ever since.

The office Christmas party, in fact, has lost the sacred right to its name. Most parties sponsored by employers will gather at formal locales, safely removed from the office and business affairs, in hotels and restaurants.

How can a slightly smashed telephone operator insult a star client while chewing chicken liver on cracker and without the dangerous switchboard at hand?

Companies which still honor the festival rights of employes are tending to get the thing over with earlier and earlier in December, as if the Christmas party were not the clean, wholesome fun it really is.

THIS probably stems from from these old spoil sports, employes' wives and, perhaps even, employers' wives. In deference to them, few if any, companies have scheduled a party for Christmas Eve.

Instead companies dismiss their workers early on the day before Christmas, rather than face the possibility of having to dismiss them permanently after a particularly raucous celebration.

Several executives told the commerce association that they discontinued Christmas parties because employes simply were not interested. The association did not find out why in their survey.

But the dispirited employe who misses the giggling stenographers, drinking at the boss's desk and the chance to laugh during office hours could tell why.

Unsurveyed were the adventurous workers, with the imagination to sneak a bottle into their bottom desk drawer while in pre-Yule good spirits.

Lisbon Board Acts On 3 In Resignations

LISBON — The Board of Education Tuesday night accepted the resignations of two secretaries and a school custodian, but filled one post and named a teacher.

Mrs. Jackie MacAleese, Lincoln School secretary, and Mrs. Judy Pike, high school secretary, and Clarence Fisher, Lincoln School custodian, will resign Dec. 31.

The board hired Mrs. Betty Crosser as high school secretary at a salary of $2,850 and Howard Johnson, 41, of Canfield as junior high math teacher at a base salary of $5,353.

Mrs. Crosser formerly was high school secretary and Johnson will replace George Alek, who was killed Nov. 15 in a traffic crash.

Supplemental contracts were authorized for several teachers who will assume coaching duties, including Charles Powell and Barry James, $75 each for junior high basketball; Edward Deville, $150 for freshman basketball, and Thomas McCall, $50 for junior varsity coach.

Mrs. Beatrice McCormick will be given a year's leave of absence, beginning next fall, to complete her master's degree in speech therapy. She is teaching third grade at McKinley School.

The board discussed Civil Defense shelter drills for Lisbon schools but no official action was taken. It will co-operate with the state for a vocational education survey in the county.

A discussion was held on school bus routes and several changes may be made as the board needs a new bus and the state will pay only about 66 per cent of the cost. A letter was read from the Hawkland Bowling Center, commending students and teachers for their participation in the recent bowling instruction.

Supt. Oliver Payne said he was advised by Principal George Nace that the Junior Class will not be selling candy this year.

The board authorized Clerk Henry Dawes to transfer funds to the general fund in accordance with the state examiner's directive, and to make transfer of appropriation balances for this year.

Bills of $53,914.23 were ordered paid. Next meeting is Jan. 7 at 7:30 p. m.

3 County Courts Pay $2,840 To Treasurer

LISBON — A total of $2,840.25 was paid to the county treasurer by the three county courts during November, according to Carl L. Stacey, clerk of courts.

A breakdown shows $1,540.25 from fines and $1,300 from criminal, civil and court costs.

The state treasurer received $1,194.75 for its 45 per cent of the State Highway Patrol fines.

The courts at Salem, East Palestine and Lisbon handled 231 criminal cases and 52 civil cases during the month.

Supreme Court Refuses Review Of Murder Case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court refused today to review the first-degree murder case of Kenneth M. Strong charged with slaying his wife, Iris, in Canton's Gay Nineties cafe last year.

Stark County Common Pleas Court convicted Strong without a recommendation of mercy, making a death sentence mandatory, but an Appellate Court reversed.

Strong allegedly shot and killed his wife to prevent her from telling police about the Aug. 14, 1961 robbery-slaying of antique dealer James Crawford.

The Crawford shooting occurred two days before the deadline for payment of a $2,000 debt owed by the Strongs, who lived in Alliance.

The Supreme Court agreed today to review decisions involving the extent of coverage for Mutual Insurance Associations.

Allen County Mutual Insurance Association and 80 other firms appealed from a Franklin County appellate decision supporting an attorney general's opinion that their insurance of non-farm buildings was improper.

In recent years, the associations had $3.8 million of insurance in force.

Geneva Given Grant By Esso Foundation

BEAVER FALLS, Pa. — Geneva College has received a capital grant from the Esso Education Foundation.

It was presented this week to Dr. Edwin C. Clarke, president of Geneva, by Gilbert Flury, manager of the Pittsburgh district, and James Hall, general salesman for the Beaver Valley area.

Geneva is among 23 privately-supported Pennsylvania colleges and universities sharing in Esso Foundation grants for the 1963-64 year.

Deputy Sheriffs Alerted To Keep Order In Strike

MOUNT VERNON, Ohio (AP) —Deputy sheriffs were sent to the Honeycomb Products plant at nearby Fredericktown today as a step to keep order in a strike there of about 35-40 members of the United Paperworkers and Papermakers Union.

The union went on strike Tuesday in a dispute over seniority rights and working conditions. The management and union had been negotiating on a new contract, and it was understood that there has been no disagreement on wages.

The union wants plant-wide seniority rights, while the company is seeking departmental seniority only.

Honeycomb has a contract to manufacture fiberglass honeycomb bulkheads for the Saturn rocket project.

The company has threatened to dismiss the strikers if they do not report back to their jobs by 8 a.m. Thursday.

Store's Head Fined $25 In Sunday Sales

men evidently interested in the outcome.

ADKINS AND Lt. Clyde W. Boso, officer in charge of the daylight police shift Sunday, were the only two prosecution witnesses.

Adkins testified that, acting on orders from the lieutenant, he changed into civilian clothes and went to the Dresden Ave. store Sunday afternoon. He said he selected a child's play cosmetic kit from a counter and paid $1.59 for it to Mrs. Jack Young, an employe. The play kit and the sales slip were entered as evidence.

Adkins said the lieutenant was outside while he made the purchase. Later, he said, the two officers entered the store again and placed Covey under arrest.

Under cross - examination, the lieutenant said he advised the clerks to leave "inasmuch as the manager was leaving." He also said he advised the employes the store should be closed "as it was a violation."

Smith argued there was no evidence that the manager "personally sold merchandise." The court sustained his motion to strike a section of the affidavit alleging the manager made a sale.

BUT THE JUDGE commented that "as far as the court is concerned, it doesn't change the affidavit." As the charge was left, it alleged that Covey allowed the store to be opened for business on Sunday.

As the trial opened, Smith moved for dismissal on the grounds the law violates the Ohio and U. S. Constitutions. The judge reserved a decision pending argument.

The state rested at 9:50. Defense counsel then made his argument, which continued for 20 minutes. He said:

"The 'blue law' was put on the books for the purpose of reducing commercialism on Sunday." "This in itself is a good objective, as long as it doesn't encroach on the privileges granted in the Bill of Rights.

"Standards of morality change over the years. The basic practices of all religions have changed since the late 1800's. Churches now have dances and basketball games and some have lotteries. Standards change to meet public demands. Sunday has become a day of recreation.

"The statute makes so many exceptions it has created chaos.

"The statute is unreasonable. It grants immunity to a few. It exempts recreation. A man can go to a baseball game on Sunday and buy popcorn and pop legally. Ten minutes later, 10 feet away, he can buy the same merchandise from a vendor outside the ball park and the vendor can be accused of violating the law.

"THE NUMBER of exceptions in the statute puts both the merchant and the police department on the spot.

"If the law allows a pharmacy to dispense drugs on Sunday, I don't feel it has the right to sell junk jewelry, tobacco or sodas. One court found a car wash was a necessity and could operate on Sunday."

"Liberty, as understood in this country, is not license, but liberty regulated by law.

"The personal liberty of every man is subject to such reasonable regulations as in the wisdom of the legislature are regarded as necessary to promote not only the peace and good order of society, but its well being.

"Laws relating to the observance of Sunday have been uniformly recognized as a legitimate exercise of the police power. Thus the state may, as a police regulation for the promotion of the physical, mental and personal welfare of its citizens, establish as a civil and political institution the first day of the week as a day of rest and prohibit the performance on it of all labor or business except works of necessity and charity.

"THE VALIDITY of Sunday laws has been attacked frequently, but the general tendency of the Ohio courts has been to sustain their constitutionality.

"The United States Supreme Court has taken the same view in a series of decisions involving state Sunday closing laws, challenged on federal constitutional grounds.

"As recently as last Friday in the case of State vs. Welles Department Store, the constitutionality of the Ohio state Sunday closing law was upheld in the 7th District Court, the Appellate Court in this district. All three judges concurred in said opinion. This court can do nothing more than concur in that opinion.

In the opinion, the court said he could not accept the argument of discrimination.

"THE DEFENDANT has raised the question of the discriminatory enforcement of the equal protection clause of the state and federal constitutions," the opinion said.

"This court cannot accept such theory. This argument is possibly predicated upon the fact that there are other businesses in the city permitted to remain open and this is the only businessman being prosecuted for violation of the Sunday closing law."

Then the court cited an opinion that "these are matters which come exclusively within the jurisdiction of law enforcing officers, legislative bodies and education leaders. Courts must impartially interpret the law in cases commenced within their respective jurisdictions. The fact that one person is prosecuted and another is not is a subject with which the court cannot deal."

IF THERE was an "intentional and purposeful prosecution," then it "might quash the prosecution, not because the defendant is not guilty of the offense charged but because the court as an agency of government should not lend itself to a prosecution the maintenance of which would violate the constitutional rights of the defendant," he said.

"However, the fact remains that defendant Covey is the first to be prosecuted under this law. But, as with violators of every law, someone has to be first.

"The fact that a Sunday observance law is a puritanical relic of earlier times may not represent public opinion and its enforcement may have damaging consequences to certain classes of persons is no reason for the courts to refuse to enforce it. The courts must expound what the law is and not determine what it should be. The remedy for the injurious consequences of such laws, if any is needed, lies with the legislature and not with the courts.

"This law having been declared constitutional, the court finds that the defendant did on the 8th day of December, 1963, unlawfully permit a building to be open for the transaction of business and therefore is in violation. . ."

"Defendant is accordingly found guilty as charged in the affidavit."

Deputy Arrests Man Armed In Stolen Car

LISBON — A Perrysburg man is being held in the County Jail after arrest in a stolen car by Deputy Sheriff James Gause on Route 164, two miles north of Lisbon, Tuesday at 12:58 p.m.

Henry Lee Richards, 33, had pulled into a gas station Tuesday at 12:30 p. m. in Columbiana and tried to cash a check. When asked for credentials, he drove away.

An alert was put out and a check on the license number of the car showed that it was leased to the National Biscuit Co. and had been stolen from in front of a store earlier at Austintown.

Richard had a loaded .22-caliber pistol on him.

Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan said a check is being made and it is expected he will be released to Austintown authorities for prosecution, providing he is not wanted for a more serious offense.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

DEAR HELOISE: When I buy cotton mittens for my children I immediately put them in my sewing box.

The next time I have the buttonhole attachment on my sewing machine (these could be worked by hand for those who do not have buttonhole attachments) I make a buttonhole on the inside cuff of each mitten. I sew a corresponding button (which is the exact size of the buttonholes on their gloves) on their coat or jacket sleeves so that when they take them off, they can attach them to the jacket. This way the mittens are never lost.

Another thing it does, is remind the child to put his mittens on! Especially when mother is not there to tell him!

CONSTANCE.

DEAR HELOISE: Diluted liquid floor wax is only a temporary solution for concrete dust problems.

If concrete is later painted, the floor which has been subject to a wax treatment will never dry. All the wax must be removed before the paint is applied.

We always paint a cement floor with two coats of either concrete paint, or floor and deck paint. The first coat is thinned in the proportion of one gallon to 1½ pints of paint. The finish coat is the paint direct from the can, well brushed-out.

We never have dust problems.

MAX SOCKLOFF.

Dear Heloise: Instead of having a Christmas Tree "burning" ceremony after the holidays, we have a Christmas Tree "planting" ceremoney. . . .

For approximately the same price as a cut tree—except that it is smaller—we buy a live potted tree and put it on our table.

No dropping needles, no drying out and after the holiday we have a lovely new tree to plant in our yard and we even leave the popcorn strings on the tree. . . for the birds.

PEARL.

DEAR HELOISE: I just found that egg cartons are great for storing Christmas decorations when boxes have been lost. It keeps all of the small bulbs and lights from hitting together.

JAN KIRBY.

So. . . save your egg cartons now, gals. They are great.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: When making a salad, many people object to using onion in pieces. I grate the amount to be used and add it to my dressing, mix well and then pour this over the salad. This gives the flavor of onion but still no one bites into a big piece of it.

PAULINE.

DEAR PAULINE: Did you ever try cutting an onion in half before removing the skin and juicing it as you would a lemon on a hand jucier? This way you get pure onion juice.

Also for those who do not like to swallow chunks of onion when making a salad (and all you want is a little bit of flavor), cut an onion in fourths (this is expecially good for potato salad) and just lay it in the salad itself for a while.

Those who like the onion can grab the big chunks, those who don't like it can set it aside, still get the flavor, and just keep eating. . .

HELOISE.

Hancock Group Sets County Issues Study

The Hancock County Extension Committee plans to undertake a study to determine county problems and needs in order to reach a decision on where to concentrate its chief activities.

Brisk Economic Activity Seen As Continuing In '64

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gene A. Futrell, Ohio State University extension economist, predicted today that economic activity will continue at a brisk pace in 1964, spurred by increased spending on the part of business and industry, consumers and government.

Edward Prentice, 65, of 1211 Erie St. was bumped by a 1957 model auto operated by Benjamin S. Smith, 535½ Mulberry St., police reported.

The pedestrian suffered a closed fracture of the right knee. He was released after treatment at City Hospital.

Smith asked Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today for an opportunity to obtain counsel. His hearing was set Friday morning. Bond was fixed at $500.

Three more auto accidents were investigated by police Tuesday.

Sheriff Hurt In Trying To Jail Prisoner

Hancock County Sheriff Joseph H. Manypenny collapsed at the County Jail in New Cumberland Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 after helping three deputies and a visitor subdue a young Weirton man who balked at attempts to place him behind bars.

The 44-year-old Democratic sheriff was listed in "good" condition today at Weirton General Hospital, and is being treated for exhaustion, bumps and bruises of the body, and bites of the hands and arms inflicted by the rowdy prisoner.

Sheriff Manypenny joined four of his deputies and an unidentified visitor in helping subdue Jerome Huntley, 22, who was ordered placed in confinement in the "bullpen" section of the jail to await psychiatric and physical examinations.

The muscular, 6-foot-1, 200-pound Weirton resident started to struggle when deputies attempted to place him in confinement, then began kicking and biting, deputies said.

Huntley had been free on bond since he was indicted by the September Grand Jury on a charge of breaking and entering the Marantz Department Store in Weirton.

At a hearing yesterday in Circuit Court, he was ordered confined by Judge James G. McClure to undergo examinations before a ruling would be made in his case.

During the struggle with Sheriff Manypenny, and Deputies Roger Cline, Joseph Rainey and Theodore Turley, Deputy Rainey was bitten on the right wrist by the prisoner and required treatment at Weirton General Hospital.

Sheriff Manypenny collapsed about five minutes after the struggle with Huntley. He was standing in the radio room talking to his deputies. They said the sheriff placed his cigar in an ashtray, and keeled over on the floor.

He was rushed to Weirton General Hospital in an ambulance. Following in the family car were his wife, Mrs. Hazel Manypenny, and a son, Jerry, whose car slid on ice into a utility pole in Weirton. They escaped injury.

Sheriff Manypenny, a veteran law officer, was also injured a year ago when struck by an ex-Weirton patrolman in a scuffle at lodge hall in Weirton and was hospitalized for several days.

Elbin said that the local school board will buy 5,000 volumes of reference material in the branch's first two years; pay all maintenance costs, and will gurantee operating budgets in the "opening years."

That means, Elbin added, that the county school group will make up any difference between instructional and administrative staff costs and the income from tuition. The tuition schedule will be set up later.

West Liberty plans a basic, two - year general educational program leading to an associate in arts degree and also providing a necessary foundation for further college work.

The total cost of the election in the lone precinct was $114, exclusive of the price of ballots, which were furnished by the Stark County Election Board. The returns were reported to the Columbiana County Board five minutes after the polls closed.

Sen. Young Again Attacks Program Of Fallout Shelters

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, has had another falling-out with an administration official over fallout shelters.

The Buckeye senator has been a persistent scoffer at the purported value of a nationwide program of shelters—a program supported by President Johnson, Young was told Tuesday.

Young got another opportunity Tuesday when he presided at an Armed Services subcommittee hearing at which Steuart L. Pittman, assistant secretary of defense, for civil defense, testified. Pittman said the President backs the program.

Pittman urged Senate passage of a $190.6 million authorization for marking and stocking shelters, in existing buildings, against radioactive fallout. The shelters could house an estimated 10 million or more people. The House approved the funds Sept. 17.

Young expressed doubt the shelters could afford much protection if Russia ever launched a nuclear attack, which Young said is quite unlikely.

Pittman noted that the United States had risked nuclear war during the Cuban confrontation with the Soviet Union.

Young replied that the United States' stern stand caused Soviet Premier Nikita Krushchev "to write an hysterical letter and he backed off immediately." The Ohioan said Russia undoubtedly won't ever launch a nuclear attack because of the retaliatory nuclear devastation it likely would face.

Tenants Default In Rent Pay At Urgency Of Racial Group

CLEVELAND (AP) — Urged by the Congress of Racial Equality, all seven tenants of an apartment house in the Hough area defaulting in their rent payments Tuesday over conditions of the building.

CORE promised Tuesday night there will be more such rent strikes in the Hough area, a depressed section on the East Side.

Negotiations in the strike were at a standstill. After reaching a tentative agreement with the rental agents who operate the building at 8503 Hough Ave. NE, CORE officials repudiated it.

Rent payments were given by the tenants to CORE, which said it will hold them in escrow until its demands are met. The repudiation of the agreement came, said Ruth Turner, CORE executive secretary here, after two men from the rental agency told the tenants the electricity and gas would be turned off if the rent wasn't paid immediately.

CORE's demands include complete fumigation of the building, extensive plumbing repairs, replastering of walls and ceilings and purchase of more garbage cans. (Currently there is one garbage can per family.)

Nine adults and 26 children live in the apartments. Average rent is $90 per month.

School Survey Report Made To Hancock Board

The president of the Weir High School Alumni Association, reporting on the group's survey of instructors in the Hancock County school system, told the Board of Education Monday night that "morale in the schools is poor."

Dr. Eli Joel Weller declared that the reason for the "poor morale" of instructors is "poor advancement opportunities, dislike of immediate supervisors, and fear of reprisal if they expressed their opinions."

He explained the charges were indicated by questionnaires sent to 297 teachers in the system, but marked and returned to the Weir High group by only 75.

The survey report was heard by a delegation of six teachers and a half - dozen Alumni Association members and Parent-Teacher Association representatives.

The group conducted the survey without the board's formal endorsement. The board made no comment on the alumni group's president's remarks.

After each class, firemen will meet for business. Paul Knox was asked to plan a first aid program especially suited to the needs of the firemen.

Dale Horger, president, has scheduled a "Work Night" for Dec. 18.

Final arrangements are to be made then for the annual children's Christmas party Dec. 20. Norman Neal, program chairman, said there will be entertainment for youngsters and adults, including dancing, choral singing and Santa Claus. The youngster will be given treats.

Lodge Won't Have Name Entered In D.C.'s Primary

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry Cabot Lodge has refused to have his name entered in the District of Columbia presidential primary. He says he's not a candidate for the 1964 GOP nomination and has no intention of running.

Lodge had been asked Nov. 18 by District Republican Chairman Carl L. Shipley to consider writing that he had no objection to his name being entered in the May 5 preference primary.

But Lodge, former Republican an now U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, wrote Dec. 4 that "were I to write the type of letter which you request, it would put me in an extremely false position. Therefore, I must object."

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, whom Lodge helped win the 1952 GOP presidential nomination, has been reported trying to persuade Lodge to make himself available for the 1964 GOP nomination. Lodge is considered amenable to a possible draft, although he wrote Shipley:

"While I am naturally complimented that some people think I would make a good president, I have no intention of running and think the most helpful thing I can do for the country at the present time is my work here in Viet Nam."

The late President John F. Kennedy, who defeated Lodge for the Senate in 1952, named him to the Viet Nam post last summer. Lodge was the GOP candidate for vice president on the ticket headed by Richard M. Nixon which lost to Kennedy and President Johnson in 1960.

Columbianan Wins Cut In Intangible Tax

COLUMBUS — The Ohio Supreme Court has reduced by over half the intangible property tax assessment of a Columbiana man on stock in a foundry. The court cut from $5,846 to $2,510 an assessment against Lewis J. Way Jr. on 2,500 shares of preferred stock of Columbiana Foundry Co. distributed to him as sole owner in 1958.

The court termed the preferred stock dividend an "income yield" subject to tax within the 10-mill limitation. The stock was capitalized at $250,000. Way also received a cash dividend of $8,000 and 11,000 additional shares of common stock, listed in tax returns as productive investments.

Air Force Plans Orbit Of Manned Laboratory

Washington (AP) — Groundwork for the Pentagon's "new" program for manned orbiting laboratories has been under way for months, with both the Air Force and the civilian space agency in on the preliminaries.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara put the project into high gear Tuesday with his announcement that the Air Force had been assigned full responsibility for running it.

The aim is to have an initial model of a "Gemini-X," without men aboard, in near-earth orbit in the first half of 1966 and to have the full-sized, manned laboratory aloft about four years from now.

Contracts for studies on the project already had been either let or invited by both the Air Force and Space Agency and the designing of the super-powerful Titan III rocket booster was well along before the formal announcement.

In disclosing the space laboratory venture, McNamara also announced termination of the Dyna-Soar orbital glider project.

A Pentagon spokesman said today that under an agreement between the Pentagon and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration it expects NASA will make available to the Air Force the data from its own studies of the feasibility and technique for multi-manned laboratories.

NASA announced award of one such study contract earlier this month to Douglas Aircraft Co. This study is aimed at refining NASA's concept of "a cylindrical six-man spacecraft" put into orbit by a big booster rocket.

In talking to newsmen Tuesday, McNamara side - stepped the question of how many men would be carried in the Air Force version. He said only that it would be more than two men (the number of NASA's own Gemini capsule project).

Bus, Auto And Truck Involved In Collision

No one was injured in a collision involving an East Palestine bus, a city man's car and a pickup truck Tuesday on Route 7 just two - tenths a mile south of Toronto.

The Wintersville State Highway Patrol said the bus, driven by John W. Jones, 36, of 32 S. Pleasant Dr., East Palestine, was halted in a line of traffic. The car of Bernard T. Kenney, 20, of 725 Cadmus St., halted behind the bus and was struck in the rear by the pickup truck driven by Robert L. Ritter, 29, of Niles.

Officers said the highway was icy. The impact drove the car into the rear of the bus. The truck then turned over on its side, partially blocking traffic.

None of the passengers in the bus was hurt. The bus is owned by John W. Young of East Palestine. The crash was timed at 7:50 a. m.

Ballots Sent By Chamber For Election Of Trustees

Ballots listing 14 nominees for seven seats on the Board of Trustees went into the mail Tuesday afternoon for all members of the Chamber of Commerce.

The election procedure moved ahead after the slate reported by a nominating committee was approved by the board at its monthly meeting yesterday.

CHAMBER members were asked to return the ballots not later than Friday, Dec. 20. A tellers' committee then will meet to tabulate the results. It will report to the board at a special meeting near the end of December.

At the first meeting of 1964 on Jan. 14, the new trustees will be installed and the board will re-organize by electing officers for the new year.

Trustees' terms are for three years. Seven terms expire each year on the 21-member board.

THE CHAMBER'S current officers are: William D. Ogilvie, president; Robert E. Boyce, first vice president; A. C. Purinton Jr., second vice president; Wendell H. Vodrey, treasurer, and E. R. Chandler, executive manager and secretary of the board.

In other business yesterday, the board received a committee report recommending adoption of an optional accreditation program for local Chambers which is administered by the U. S. Chamber. The accreditation is based on qualitative standards of performance. The standards committee of the U. S. Chamber would analyze the operations of the local Chamber.

The committee which made the study was comprised of C. V. Hughes, William B. Cooper and Atty. Francis H. Lang.

THE BOARD received a report from Chandler recommending revisions in the constitution and bylaws that would place election of officers on a fiscal year basis rather than the present calendar year arrangement.

In that way, the election—and transaction of other year-end business — would not fall in December, the busiest time of the year for many of the members, he pointed out.

In adopting the fiscal year setup, the Chamber could begin and end its business year with any date agreed upon by the board and ratified by the members.

The advantages would include avoiding the holiday mail rush in sending and receiving ballots in the annual election.

Ogilvie announced appointment of a committee to prepare a new budget for presentation for the board at its January meeting.

U.S. Readies Saturn Rocket For Blastoff

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Ginny cost us two days. Then we lost another week because of the hydrogen explosion on Nov. 26. Otherwise, Saturn 1 is on the launching schedule laid out in August."

Army Lt. Col. Rocco A. Petrone was outlining months of painstaking preparation leading to the launching of what officials believe to be the world's most powerful rocket.

Barring further trouble, the 16-story-tall Saturn 1 will rumble skyward next Wednesday in the first attempt to ignite its high - energy liquid hydrogen second stage. Four earlier launchings of the kerosene-driven first stage were successful.

Petrone, assistant director for plans and project management at the space agency's launch operations center, emphasized the upcoming flight will be strictly a research and development test. But as a bonus, he said, Saturn 1 will attempt to orbit the world's heaviest satellite — 83 feet long and weighing 19 tons, including 5½ tons of sand for ballast.

Grows Worse In Shopping Rush

Treasury Shows Concern Over Shortage Of Coins

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury expressed its concern today over the coin shortage which has become steadily worse during the Christmas shopping rush.

In the past few months, the Treasury has tried not to call attention to the shortage, apparently on the theory that publicity would lead to hoarding.

But the shortage was obvious long before the start of the Christmas season. There are now shortages in every denomination except silver dollars. The supply is tight in almost every area of the nation.

Some banks have been asking the public to keep their coins in circulation. Some companies which rely heavily on coins in their business have been shipping large amounts from one area to another.

The shortage is said to be due to good business in retail sales and increased use of vending machines, parking meters and other such devices.

Demand for coins usually reaches a peak about Dec. 15, but Treasury officials apparently are bothered more about the prospect of continued shortages than about the currrent dearth of change.

A Treasury spokesman expressed the concern in a statement.

The Philadelphia and Denver mints, working on virtually a 24-hour day, seven-day week basis, will produce 4.1 billion pieces of change in the year which ends next June 30 but it has been estimated that the nation's commerce could use 6 billion.

Archie Pinkerton, 60, of 1066 Houston Ave. suffered bruises of the elbow and abrasions and bruises of the chest in a fall on ice near home.

Mrs. Nell Smith, 550 Indiana Ave., Chester, was treated for a laceration of the head received in a fall on ice.

Mrs. Freda Shultz, 314½ 3rd St., Wellsville, suffered an injury to the right foot in a fall on an icy street in Wellsville.

Samuel Channels, 61, of 779 Faulk Ave. received an injury to the left hip in a fall on ice.

Town In Boom Hasn't Forgotten Yule Spirit

MOUNT GILEAD, Ohio (AP) —This Morrow County community may be going through an oil boom but it hasn't forgotten the spirit of Christmas.

Two 80-foot rotary drilling rigs displayed the signs of the season today. One rig, located near the Morrow County Hospital, has a Christmas tree on its top.

The other, located near the County Fairgrounds, has a star on the top.

There are 92 producing oil wells in this county.

Santa and the Haunted House

By LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: The children rushed home to tell the Storyteller they had actually seen Nog making a monstrous cake. But the Storyteller had disappeared. The children dressed up like haunts and returned to frighten Nog from the Haunted House.

What has happened to Miss Jo?

CHAPTER EIGHT

Jeremy dropped his flashlight and the three little haunts tore out of the Haunted House. They scrambled off the porch and over the crumbled stairs and were halfway to the road when Miss Jo screamed, "Jeremy! Help!"

Jeremy's heart thudded as he realized that Miss Jo was not beside him. She had never gotten out the door and the towering ghost had clutched her!

"I'm coming!" shouted Jeremy and with Sissy at his side he turned and stumbled back to the house.

Miss Jo screamed, "He's got me! Oh Jeremy, he's holding on to me!"

Jeremy lurched up the broken steps and across the porch, tripped over his sheet and sprawled at Miss Jo's feet. He picked himself up and grasped Miss Jo's hands. "Why, there's nobody holding you!" he cried. "There's nothing here at all."

"But I can't move!" quavered Miss Jo.

"It's your sheet," said Jeremy. "It's caught on a nail!" He yanked at the sheet and Miss Jo came loose and spun into his arms. The two of them staggered backwards, piled into Sissy who had just reached the porch, and all three of them landed in a heap at the bottom of the broken-down stairs.

—:—

THEY PICKED themselves up and holding their sheets off the ground raced for home. Miss Jo went in first. Hardly had she gone through the door than she shook all over and backed out again.

"He's in there! Nog's in there!"

"W-where?" whispered Jeremy.

Jeremy peeped in and held his breath. Then he burst out laughing. "It's only you!" he cried. He pushed Miss Jo ahead of him and pointed out her reflection in the hall mirror.

Miss Jo sobbed with relief. She took off her sheet and said, "I don't ever want to be a ghost again!"

"Me either," cried Sissy.

"Nor I," said Jeremy. "But we've got to do something. Nog must have already sent that cake to Santa and if Santa eats it — I don't know what might happen to him!"

"Let's write a letter and tell him," said Sissy. "We could put the letter in the fireplace and Santa would get it and then he would know."

This seemed like a very good idea. Jeremy got out pencil and paper and wrote, "Dear Santa, Don't eat any cake — wherever it comes from. It might be from Nog and it is a bad cake. It will kill you maybe and then there won't be any more Christmas. We know because we saw Nog making it and he told us what he planned to do. Love, Jeremy, Sissy and Miss Jo."

HE SEALED the letter and put it on the hearth. Sissy poured water on the dying coals in the fireplace so it wouldn't be too warm for Santa. Miss Jo put a glass of milk and two cookies beside the note in case he might be hungry.

The children went to bed very pleased with what they had done. But the next morning the letter was still there. The children sat and worried all day. They couldn't manage to play any games at all. That night they pushed the letter further into the fireplace and went to bed hoping this time Santa would come.

But the next morning the letter was still there.

Jeremy said, "We'll have to go to him."

"To Santa Land?" cried Miss Jo.

"How could we do it?" asked Sissy.

"I don't know," said Jeremy. "But we've got to go."

Tomorrow: A Trip On Skates

Hall's Report Lists Election Costs As $389

Mayor - elect Merrill D. Hall, Republican, spent $389 in the campaign for the Nov. 5 general election, it was shown in a sworn statement of receipts and expenditures on file today with the County Election Board.

Hall's report was among several filed with the board by area candidates.

William E. Blair, a candidate for the city Board of Education, listed expenses of $17. Meryle D. Kenney, a Republican candidate for councilman-at-large in Wellsville, reported he spent $8.

Frank P. Duffy has reported that he spent $349.98 in his unsuccessful bid for the mayoralty post.

Arch H. Smith, Democratic candidate for Council president, said his expenses totaled $89.17, while William E. Davis, Democratic nominee for the Fourth Ward post, said his expenditures totaled $4.

In a report filed by Lillian M. Smith, chairman, the East Liverpool Democratic Women's Club said it spent $117.60 in supporting party candidates.

John R. Woomer, who was one of three elected to the Board of Education, listed expenditures of $56.10.

The Wellsville Republican Club reported receipts of $158.14 and expenses of $156.90. The balance of $1.24 will be applied to future campaigns, Charles W. Stewart, treasurer, said in his report.

Paul T. Todd, Republican candidate for a Council-at-large seat in Wellsville, said he spent $23.13.

Wilson A. Smith, who was elected St. Clair Township clerk, reported expenses of $53.85, while David Dray, who was elected a township trustee, said his expenditures totaled $40.47.

Dec. 20 at 4 p. m. is the deadline for the reports. They are required under the Corrupt Practices Act, which puts a ceiling on campaign spending.

The Election Board has emphasized repeatedly that the reports are required of all candidates, whether or not they were successful, and from committees or individuals that supported or opposed any candidate or issue.

Under state law, failure to file a report bars a candidate from seeking public office again for five years.

The Election Board cannot issue certificates of election to successful candidates until they have filed the reports. The certificate of election is one of the requirements for an official - elect to assume his post.

Negro Lawyer's Home Target Of Steel Ball

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — A steel ball fired by a sling-shot-wielding passerby crashed through the front window of the expensive home of a Negro attorney active in desegregation activities here.

Police said the ball apparently was fired by a person on foot, and from across the street from the home of Arthur Shore. The home has been the target of racial bombings twice this year and both times was damaged extensively.

No one was injured in Tuesday night's incident.

Car Mishap Fatal

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Robert L. Perkins, 35, Swanton, was injured fatally today when his car skidded on a patch of ice and rammed a bridge.

Ex-City Man Given Salem Phone Post

Arthur C. Williams of Akron, a native of East Liverpool, has been named Ohio Bell Telephone Co. commercial manager for the Salem district, succeeding William McKay who died Nov. 25 after a heart attack.

Williams, a 34-year veteran of the firm, attended Niles McKinley High School and began work with Ohio Bell in 1929 as an installer.

He was promoted to foreman in 1941, and was transferred to Cleveland in 1946 as a commercial training supervisor. Two years later he returned to Akron as a telephone service manager.

In 1951-52 he worked at Cleveland in the general rate engineering offices, returning to Akron in 1955.

He and his wife, the former Ethel M. Steinke, have a son, Robert Williams who works for Ohio Bell.

Williams is a past president of the East Ohio Kiwanis Club and immediate past president of the 16th Division of Ohio Kiwanis. He is also active in the Masonic Order, is a member of the Fraternal Order of Police Associates and the Telephone Pioneers of America.

Women Detectives Overpower Wrestler

CINCINNATI (AP) — Douglas Lindzy, 26, may do all right in the professional wrestling ring, but he was no match for three petite female store detectives.

Municipal Court Judge Gilbert Bettman fined Lindzy $50 and costs Tuesday after the wrestler pleaded no contest to two charges of shoplifting. Police said the women detectives — combined weight slightly over 300 pounds — chased the 235-pound wrestler from a store Nov. 14 and subdued him with the help of several male sales clerks.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Partiality Harmful To Children

I receive a great many letters telling of partiality of a grandparent and other relatives toward one of two or more children in the family. This practice can lead to all sorts of unhappiness in the other child or children and to no end of problems in the favored child. Yet such partiality may be easier for both parents to cope with than for one when it's the other parent who is partial.

Dr. Garry Meyers

Of course we need to recognize that it's all but impossible for any parent not to like one child better than another, or for a grandparent or aunt or uncle not to favor one grandchild, niece or nephew over another. Yet we have a right to expect that the partial relative would try not to express partiality.

From West Virginia comes this:

"I'M THE MOTHER of four children: Robert, 8 years old, Judy, 5 years old and two-year-old twin boys. I have wonderful in-laws who would do anything for us.

"An uncle thinks the world of Robert and takes him everywhere, buys most anything he asks for, is even earning money for his college education, and I do appreciate it, only there is a problem in it, too.

"The problem is my daughter Judy, who is very close to her brother Robert. She is always excluded when Robert is favored. Many times the uncle gives Robert things in front of her but has nothing for her. Or if he gives the boy something which I'm sure it wouldn't hurt Robert to share it with her, he tells her not to forget that present is Robert's."

"Last Saturday," the letter goes on, "the uncle took Robert to Pittsburgh. When they came home they had two beanie hats for the twins. As they gave the package to one of the twins, Judy reached for it, but was told there wasn't anything in it for her.

"She looked hurt and excluded again, and it hurts me so very much, and many times it made me cry to see her pushed aside.

"SHOULD I SAY anything to the uncle, or just ignore it? I tried many times to explain to Judy that the uncle feels he might not be able to watch both of them, which is why he doesn't take her along when he takes Robert out, but I don't know how to explain it to her why the uncle buys so much for Robert and nothing for her."

My reply: "It is hard to understand why anybody would be so cruel to Judy, nor is it good for Robert to have this special attention.

"By all means sit down quietly and talk to this relative pointing out what it all means. If you can't get him to cooperate by persuasion, I think you should, for your children's sake, break off relations. Those children are too precious to have to be ruined in such a way."

My bulletin "Jealousy" may be had by sending a self - addressed stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Goodballet Plans Trip

Mayor Gives Data To Hall On 4 Big Future Projects

To help assure a continuity in planning in the next biennium, Mayor Bert H. Goodballet has briefed his successor, Merrill D. Hall, on steps that have been taken in the last few years on four major East Liverpool projects.

Goodballet's Democratic administration will move out of City Hall Dec. 31 and Hall, a Republican, will move into the mayor's chair Jan. 1. The retiring mayor said he has given his successor a detailed history of the complicated negotiations behind these major projects:

Rebuilding of St. Clair Ave. from Princeton Ave. to the city limits.

A pedestrian-auto ramp over the Freeway to tie together the two dead-end sections of W. 9th St.

Extension of the Freeway east from W. 3rd and Monroe Sts. into East End.

Improvement of Lisbon St. by widening the pavement and elimination of curves.

All four of the projects, particularly the St. Clair Ave. improvement, have occupied much of the present mayor's time in the last four years.

Work on the St. Clair proposal dates back to the time he assumed office in his first term. It has been marked by an endless round of negotiations with the State Highway Department and the Federal Bureau of Public Roads.

The proposal for a ramp to link up the two sections of 9th St. dates back about 18 months. It also involves both federal and state agencies.

Plans for the eastward extension of the Freeway still are in the formative stage, although they have been discussed for more than a year. The proposal to improve the Lisbon St. grade also dates back more than a year. It has been proposed as a joint city-state project.

Goodballet is looking forward to a Christmas vacation in Florida, but expects to return to East Liverpool in time for the official change-over in administrations on New Year's Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodballet will fly from Greater Pittsburgh Airport at 5:25 p. m. Sunday, en route to spend the holiday with their son and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Goodballet of Pompano Beach, Fla.

They will return Dec. 29.

The mayor said he expects to be at City Hall to turn over the duties of the office Jan. 1 when Hall assumes the post.

Shrine Club Sets Yule Fete Friday For Youngsters

Final plans for a Christmas party for members' children were made at the meeting of the East Liverpool Shrine Club Monday night at the Casting Club.

The annual event sponsored jointly by the Shrine Club and Oriental Band will be held Friday night at 7:30 at the Casting Club.

Paul E. Taylor, president, announced a conducted tour of the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. will be held in February.

The Oriental Band will hold an initiation dance Saturday at 9 p. m. at the Casting Club.

A film of the Halloween dance was screened. Forty attended and lunch was served.

Next meeting is Jan. 15.

Yule Flowers Placed In Wellsville Baskets

The standards bearing the hanging baskets of flowers were installed in front of the city building as a beautification project.

They were made so they can be used the year around. The post is open at the top and can hold a flag or a tree.

The city's other Yule decorations have been erected and are lighted each night.

Begins Stint In Air Reserve

TODAY IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

—:—

GOLDWATER: Senaters generally are quick with a quote. But when they go on active military duty they sometimes catch the Pentagon mood — they avoid reporters.

Take Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz.

A major general in the Air Force reserve, last Friday he began 15 days of active duty in the office of the deputy chief of staff for personnel.

All that could be learned about him from that office was that he has an office to himself, a blue flag with two stars like other Air Force generals, and "during his annual 15-day tour, he grants no interviews as a matter of policy."

VA DIVIDENDS: The Veterans Administration says it will distribute $234 million in dividends between Jan. 2 and 25 to insured veterans of World Wars I and II.

Following President Johnson's announcement Sunday that the 1964 insurance dividend would be paid early to stimulate the economy, the VA announced Tuesday it expected to complete payments by Jan. 25 — six days sooner than the record set in 1963.

WHEAT: The Commerce Department has issued a license for the sale of $3.2 million worth of U.S. wheat to Communist East Germany.

In making the announcement Tuesday, the department did not give the number of bushels in the proposed shipments.

Wheat sells on the world market for about $1.35 up to about $1.80 a bushel, depending on the type.

The future of the proposed wheat sale to the Soviet Union remains cloudy, mainly due to a dispute over the cost of shipping in American vessels.

SPACE FUNDS: The House passed and sent to the Senate Tuesday a compromise $13,224,518,050 appropriation bill, which includes $5.1 billion for the space agency and also finances more than a score of independent federal agencies.

The bill's total is $1.4 billion less than the late President Kennedy had requested, $222 million more than the House originally voted and about $75 million less than the Senate originally agreed to.

CONGRESSIONAL RECESS: Congress will take a Christmas recess from about Dec. 20 to Jan. 7, Republican Senate Leader Everett M. Dirksen said Tuesday.

Appear Well In Bolivia

4 Americans Concerned, Irked At Imprisonment

Associated Press staff writer Jorge Canelas has visited the four Americans and 11 others held hostage by Communist-led tin miners at Catavi, Bolivia.

By JORGE CANELAS

ORURO, Bolivia (AP) — The four Americans and 11 other hostages held by rebellious Bolivian tin miners are crammed each night into one room 18 by 12 feet and sleep on the floor without mattresses.

They all appear in good health but seem understandably concerned and annoyed at their unexpected imprisonment, now in its fifth day.

The hostages were interviewed by newsmen at nearby Catavi Tuesday for the first time since they were taken prisoner Friday in retaliation for the government's arrest of two Communist labor leaders, Irineo Pimentel and Federico Escobar.

Under a close guard, the newsmen were led into two small rooms at the headquarters of the mine union and met the hostages, who also include a West German, a Dutchman and nine Bolivian technicians.

Thomas Martin, 27, of New York, a U.S. Information service officer, said he and the other Americans were arrested after a dinner Friday night at the home of Cornelius Bloot, a Dutch mine manager.

"We just want to be set free," said Michael A. Krustula of Cadillac, Mich., information chief for the Alliance for Progress in Bolivia.

Robert Fergerstrom of Honolulu, a Peace Corps volunteer, said all the hostages were well. Bernard Rifkin, 52, of Montclair, N.J., a U.S. labor officer, is the fourth American.

Newsmen asked Bolivian Vice President Juan Lechin, the miners' leader, why the hostages were not being kept at the mine's comfortable guest house. He replied union headquarters provided better security.

Sang Boop-Boop-A-Doop

Helen Kane, Ex-Singing Star, Eyeing Comeback

NEW YORK (AP) — Remember when Helen Kane sang boop-boop-a-doop back in 1928?

Well, the onetime voice of Betty Boop in the movie cartoons is living in an apartment in the Jackson Heights section of New York City now, hoping for a comeback.

"I feel fine now, thank you," said Miss Kane, who has had four operations for cancer in the past seven years, the last one Dec. 6.

She says she's finishing a book about her career, wants to do some television, and has had some offers for a movie about her life.

She still speaks in that piping voice that sounds as if she's suppressing a laugh.

Miss Kane, who made 14 movies for Paramount, saw one of them on television not long ago.

"I was the peppy one. I was the flapper," she said. "There I was, looking about 16, laughing, and jumping on and off horses."

Miss Kane's first big success was with Paul Ash, an orchestra leader, at New York's Paramount Theater in 1928. She'd already done dramatic stock, appeared in night clubs with the four Marx brothers and in Schubert revues.

"Then they put in more songs. After the fourth day they put my name in lights. I used to sit in a coffee shop across the street and look at it."

Miss Kane has been married for 35 years to Dan Healy, who was her leading man in "Good Boy," the show in which she sang "I Want to be Loved by You" (boop-boop-a-doop).

"He's a very talented young man," said Miss Kane, and added:

"I'm not near that age. Don't put down any fancy age for me. It's not that long ago."

Ohio Liquor Dispute Taken To High Court

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Department of Liquor Control has taken a dispute over Regulation 70, which fixes a 22 per cent minimum markup above cost of retail sale of beer and malt beverages, to the Ohio Supreme Court.

Lower courts held for the board but an appellate court reversed the decision. The board appealed to the high court Tuesday.

1,500 See Weirton Outgun Oak Glen In 67-43 Victory

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

Defending West Virginia champion Weirton started its march to another state title by opening the new season with a 67-43 victory over Oak Glen before a standing room crowd of over 1,500 Tuesday night at the Weirton Community Center.

Oak Glen, flooring its first basketball team, is a team that showed promise and with a couple games under its belt may turn into a winning combination.

Ron (Fritz) Williams and Co. led throughout the contest although Williams, considered one of the best high school cagers anywhere, wasn't at his shooting best last night.

Of course, it was only the first game of the season, but Williams led both teams in scoring with 24 points. He took 27 shots and hit for eight field goals and showed eight out of nine from the foul line.

The shooting per centage of this 6-2 cage standout is usually much better, but it was good enough for an opening night and a Weirton victory.

Maybe his shooting was off, but he had numerous assists and he rifled pass after pass to teammates for easy buckets.

Williams, Ted Thomasovich, sharpshooting quarterback in football, and Ed Harvard made up the backbone of the Weirton club.

For Oak Glen, Sam Simmons turned in a fine board game and also found time to contribute 10 points. He scored two fielders and dropped in six of 11 charity tosses.

His running mate, Dennis Carnes, 6-2½ junior, paced Oak Glen in the scoring with 12 points, but eight came in the fourth quarter when the contest was out of reach.

Oak Glen was forced to shoot from far out most of the night and not one of the guards could come up with a hot hand. The Golden Bears fired 67 times and made 16 for 23 per cent. Weirton took 63 shots and dropped in 26 for 39 per cent.

A slow first period found Weirton on top 12-5, but the Riders boosted this margin to 37-17 at halftime. The third period score read 53-24.

Williams didn't have any outstanding quarter scoring-wise, but dealt out his points over the four periods.

As a junior last season, "Fritz" averaged almost 30 points per game.

Western Beaver Overtime Victim In Section Loss

By ANDY NUZZO

The debut of the Western Beaver Golden Beavers in the Section 8 race last night was a near success.

The Riverside Panthers were forced to go into double overtime to eke out a 75-72 decision over George Hromanik's upset-minded quintet.

Western became the ninth member of Section 8 this year and made it necessary for the early start in section play. Section 8 is the largest in the WPIAL.

THE GOLDEN Beavers used the foul line to great advantage Tuesday. Outscored in field goals, 32-20, Western dropped in 32 of an amazing 57 charity tosses. Riverside only netted 11 of 21 tries.

The game was marred by fouls. Cliff Herron, Russ Clyde, Larry Boyer and George Kotuby all were forced to the bench with five personals. Pat Marron was the only Western player to foul out.

AFTER LEADING by a slim one point, 15-14, at the end of one period of play, the Golden Beavers were victims of a 23-point second quarter explosion by Riverside.

At the end of the first half Riverside held a 37-25 margin and in the opening minutes of the second half they increased it to 41-27.

But Western was not to be denied and they began to hammer away at the Panther lead.

When the third quarter came to a close, Western only trailed by eight points, 44-36.

THREE and a half minutes remained in the game when Western finally grabbed the lead that had eluded them since the early part of the second period.

Larry Robinson, 6-1 center of the Beavers, broke a 50-50 deadlock when he cashed the front end of a two shot foul. Five seconds later he did the same and put Western in front, 52-50.

RIVERSIDE guard Bob Zahn brought his team even with a layup before Tom Berovich sent Western ahead by four on a pair of fielders.

Western held to this four point spread and with 30 seconds remaining they were in front, 60-56.

Zahn hit a jumper and after Berovcih was called for steps, Kotuby swished a push shot from the corner to send the game into its first three minute overtime.

RIVERSIDE jumped in front in the first overtime and they had a 69-65 lead with one minute remaining.

But Bruce Singleton, 6-0 forward, put the Beavers back into the game with a pair of rebound layups. His second layup came just before the buzzer.

Singleton set it up himself when he stole the ball from a Riverside player at midcourt and dribbled in for a layup.

Singleton then grabbed the rebound and calmly flipped it into the basket to send the game into its second overtime period.

Riverside hit three quick fielders at the start of the second overtime and Western never was able to recover.

ROBINSON, Singleton and Marron led the Beaver scoring parade. Robinson meshed four field goals and 15 of 19 free throws for 23 points.

Singleton added 17 markers on four fielders and nine of 17 charity tosses. He played an outstanding all - around game. He was constantly outrebounding his taller Panther opponents.

Marron was the sparkplug of the Western attack in the first period, when he canned nine points. He ran into personal foul trouble however, and sat out most of the game.

Western was expected to be the doormat of the section but their performance Tuesday night proved they have other ideas in mind.

George Walker, Riverside center, led the Panther attack with 17 points. Herron and Zahn contributed 14 markers and Kotuby added 10.

The Western JV's of Richard Shingler were soundly trounced by the Riverside Reserves, 56-35, in the prelim.

Ken DeFonde of Riverside led all scorers with 26 points. Tom Bomar was high for Western with 17.

Western's next section encounter will be with Hopewell at home, this Friday.

Davidson Paces Stanton

Ken Davidson, the smallest player on the floor at 5-6, was a big man in Stanton Local's 87-70 victory at Smithfield Tuesday night.

The victory was the second in five games for Coach Harry Diehl's squad.

Davidson fired in 25 points by whipping in nine field goals and seven fouls. The little senior had ample support from Willard Smolinsky who contributed 21 markers plus 18 points from Larry Spires.

Stanton led all the way last night grabbing a 26-7 first period edge then held the margin by posting a 51-32 halftime advantage.

Fluhardy paced Smithfield with 19 points.

South Side Nips Center By 52-50

After three straight losses, South Side has apparently found the winning touch and rolled to its second victory in a row by outlasting Center Township, 52-50, Tuesday night on the losers' floor.

South Side led a comfortable margin most of the way through the contest but Coach Dave Nichol's boys had to stave off a late bid by the Center five in the final period.

Steelers Lead NFL In 2 Minor Phases

NEW YORK (AP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers may win their first division title in history Sunday, but they lead the National Football League in only two departments — neither one a major category.

The Steelers top the NFL only in the number of running plays and the number of field goals.

The New York Giants, whom the Steelers will play Sunday in New York in a winner-take-all game for the title, lead the league in first downs, passing, touchdowns, touchdowns by passing, completed passes and total points.

No. 1 Loyola Given Scare, Tops Detroit In Overtime

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

NYU is five minutes better than Loyola.

That's about the only thing the nation's top two teams proved Tuesday night in a doubleheader at Chicago.

It took Loyola's top-ranked Ramblers 40 minutes and a five-minute overtime session to get by Detroit 113-108. NYU's second-ranked Violets managed to get the job done in regulation time, edging Northwestern 75-66.

Both games were in doubt until the talent-rich clubs sprung a pair of sophomores for key baskets. Tom Manzke sank the basket that pulled Loyola ahead in overtime and Stan McKenzie hit the key shot to put NYU out front to stay.

Ron Miller's 25-foot jump shot as time ran out pulled Loyola into a 98-all tie and forced the overtime.

Manzke then took over in the overtime, stealing a pass and racing in for a lay-up that put Loyola out front to stay 108-106.

NYU trailed at the half, 40-35, spurted ahead early in the second half, but was still locked in a struggle with Northwestern at 63-63 with 4:45 remaining. MacKenzie then found the range, connecting for the basket that put the Violets ahead for good.

Tenth-ranked Kansas was the only other Top Ten team in action, and also ran into difficulty before subduing a stubborn Texas Tech team 73-67.

Elsewhere, Bud Koper's 44 points led Oklahoma City to a 95-90 victory over SMU, Dave Stallworth collected 30 points as Wichita walloped Duquesne 91-74 and Notre Dame whipped Bowling Green 79-65 despite a 41-point performance by the Falcons' Howard Komives.

Loyola Gains Top Spot In First Voting

By The Associated Press

Loyola of Chicago's national champions impressive in early season tune-ups, are comfortably out front in The Associated Press' weekly college basketball poll.

The free-wheeling Ramblers, easy winners last week over North Dakota, 92-54, and Kent State, 100-59, have no major obstacles in their immediate path. But New York University, Duke and Arizona State University, leading challengers in the season's first balloting of 36 basketball writers and broadcasters, will be scrambling to keep their lofty ratings.

Sox' Nellie Fox Sold To Houston

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Baseball's hottest seat for little Nellie Fox was the bench.

The Chicago White Sox knew Fox would fret as a part timer ball player, so under their current youth movement, he was dispatched to Houston in an inter-league trade Tuesday for two Colt Farm hands — pitcher Jim Golden and outfielder Danny Murphy.

Fox will be 36 Christmas Day.

In return for the peppery second baseman, who has a lifetime batting average of .289 and six times hit .300 or better, the White Sox received a pitcher who was 9-11 at Oklahoma City last season and a former 1200,000 Chicago Cub bonus baby who batted .234 with San Antonio and .268 with Oklahoma City last season.

Fox batted .260 in 1963 but was being pushed off his job by a pair of youngsters, Al Weis and Don Buford.

"Actually, we may be doing Fox a great favor, said White Sox General Manager Ed Short. "He may play two or three more regular seasons for Paul Richards (Houston general manager), who really wanted him to stabilize the young Colt infield."

Fox, who was deer hunting in Chambersburg, Pa., when the deal was announced, said he was relieved.

"At least now I know where I'm going," he said. "I'm very glad to get back with Richards."

Fox came to the White Sox in 1949. In 1950 he became the regular second baseman and went on to compile such records for most consecutive games without a strikeout (98); most years leading the league in fewest strikeouts (10); most consecutive years leading the league in singles (7); most consecutive games played at second base (749) and so on down the line.

He played in 14 All - Star games and was the American League's Most Valuable Player in 1959 when the White Sox won the pennant.

Steel Official Honored At Hall Of Fame Dinner

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) —Roger M. Blough, a one-time Susquehanna tackle who now calls the signals for U.S. Steel, credits football with teaching the value of team play and the "unique difference team play can make in the years after school is over."

At Tuesday night's sixth annual awards dinner of the National Football Foundation, Blough received the foundation's Gold Medal given annually to the national leader "who has profited in later life by football's disciples and lessons learned on field.

Blough was a 160 - pound lineman at Susquehanna in 1921, 1922 and 1924 before embarking on a business and law career that led to chairmanship of the board at U.S. Steel.

Sharing the spotlight with Blough were 10 all-time greats inducted into the Foundation's Hall of Fame.

The Foundation also presented Coach Darrell Royal of Texas with the Douglas MacArthur Bowl, in recognition of the undefeated Longhorns' No. 1 ranking.

The new Hall of Famers included seven modern players and three deceased old-timers. Honored posthumously were Thomas (Bum) McClung, Yale back; Charles (Buck) Wharton, Penn guard and George Woodruff, Yale back.

The seven moderns inducted were Alex Agase, Illinois and Purdue guard; George Connor, Holy Cross tackle; Edwin (Goat) Hale, Mississippi College halfback; Ken Kavanaugh, Louisiana State end; Cliff Montgomery, Columbia quarterback; Henry R. (Peter) Pund, Georgia Tech center; and Eddie Tryon, Colgate halfback.

In the last two years the Los Angeles Angels won 18 games each season in their final turn at bat.

Rupp Is Last To Admit He Has Powerhouse Five

By KELSO STURGEON
Associated Press Sports Writer

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—You couldn't twist Coach Adolph Rupp's arm hard enough to get him to admit Kentucky is a dark horse for national basketball honors—but it's evident the Baron of the Bluegrass has another powerhouse on his hands.

Kentucky, displaying a great one-two scoring punch has crushed its first four opponents with such ease that even Rupp admits he's surprised.

But still Rupp declines to get his hopes up. "I would rather be a winner than a prophet," he twanged.

The secret of Kentucky's success has been the scoring of Cotton Nash and Ted Deeken. Nash, a 6-foot-5 forward and center from Leominster, Mass., is averaging 27.8 points a game, and Deeken, a 6-foot-4 forward from Louisville, Ky., is scoring at 24.7 clip.

And, Rupp has a 6-foot-2 sophomore waiting in the wings who the Baron says is just as good as anyone on the Kentucky squad.

He is Mickey Gibson, who averaged 23.1 points a game last year as a freshman. Gibson is waiting out disciplinary probation, which is expected to be lifted in about two weeks.

With Nash, Deeken and Gibson on the front line, Kentucky could have the highest scoring front line in college basketball. This could offset the Wildcats' lack of height.

Kentucky is ranked fifth nationally in the weekly Associated Press basketball poll.

Frank Ramsey Gets Worst Of It From NBA Officials

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—"I thought he'd get killed before he got his first foul shot," said Red Auerbach.

"Frank, I felt sorry for you out there," said Walter Brown.

"Don't say that, Mr. Brown," said Frank Ramsey. "It's all over and done with."

"Personally, I haven't even seen the article," said Referee Earl Strom.

"Fake," said the fans, from all over Madison Square Garden.

And so it went in the National Basketball Association game between the Boston Celtics and the New York Knicks, the night after Frank Ramsey of the Celtics turned author.

"The article" was one in a magazine, under Ramsey's byline, detailing how he lures opponents into committing fouls, and fools the officials. The article drew a reprimand from NBA Commissioner Walter Kennedy.

Some 8,237 fans turned out at the Garden Tuesday night, mainly to see how the officials reacted to Ramsey, and vice versa. There wasn't much else of interest, as the Celtics toyed with the cellar New Yorkers for a 132-113 victory. That gave Boston an 18-2 record for the first quarter of the long season.

In the first game of the doubleheader, the St. Louis Hawks fought off the Philadelphia '76ers down the stretch for a 113-103 decision.

In the other NBA game on the card, the San Francisco Warriors defeated the Baltimore Bullets 117-108, as Wilt Chamberlain scored 49 points.

But Ramsey held the spotlight.

Actually, Ramsey is about the last player in the sometimes hard-bitten pro league you'd expect to become an object of even mild controversy. He is a well-spoken Kentucky gentleman, now in his ninth season in the league and the co-captain of the Celtics with Bill Russell. He is one of the great clutch players.

Anyway, he took the court about midway through the first half and almost the first time he got his hands on the ball he was called for charging a defensive player. The Boston bench erupted, and the referees called a technical foul.

Before he was through, Ramsey had played 21 minutes, collected 15 points, hustled all over the floor and drawn four personals. He did not appear to get the best of the officiating, despite catcalls from the stands to: "Fake a foul, Ramsey."

Auerbach thought Ramsey got the worst of it. So did Brown, the owner of the team.

Bears, Packers, Giants Lead NFL All-Star Team

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The defense-minded Chicago Bears, Green Bay's ground troops and the pass-happy New York Giants dominated the National Football League All-Star team announced Wednesday by The Associated Press.

The Bears placed six players on the 22-man first offensive and defensive units. Green Bay had five and New York four.

Y. A. Tittle, the Giants' superb passer, was a near unanimous choice for quarterback and Jimmy Brown, Cleveland's record-breaking ground gainer, received all but two votes for fullback. Mike Ditka, fine tight end of the Chicago Bears, also polled all but two of the 42 votes cast.

The selections were made by a committee of three sports writers and broadcasters from each of the 14 league cities.

Ditka was the Bears' only representative on the offensive team but the fine defensive club placed five men on the first unit. They were 6-foot-8 end Doug Atkins, linebackers Bill George and Joe Fortunato and the two ball-hawking safety men, Richie Petitbon and Roosevelt Taylor.

Only nine of the 22 men selected last year repeated—six on offense and three on defense.

They were Del Shofner, New York Giants' split end; tackle Forrest Gregg of Green Bay; guards Jerry Kramer of Green Bay and Jim Parker of Baltimore; center Jim Ringo of Green Bay and Tittle of the 1962 offensive team. The defensive repeaters were tackles Roger Brown of Detroit and Henry Jordan of Green Bay and corner back Herb Adderley of Green Bay.

Shofner and Ditka were picked for the two end jobs with Gregg and Dick Schafrath of Cleveland at tackles and Kramer and Parker at guard with Ringo at center.

Harris Speaks To Rotary

Other Interests Make Coaching Job Tougher

The coaching profession gets tougher every year at every level with basketball competing for a youngster's interest with girls, television, dancing and studies, Jim Harris told the Rotary Club Tuesday.

"WE HAVE to share the kid's interest with girls, dancing, television and everything else competing for his attention," Harris declared, adding that the average cager today is not nearly as dedicated to the sport as in the past.

Like basketball, Harris said, education also competes for a student's attention. "The American educational system deserves a pat on the back for its achievements in turning out some great scholars," he said.

TURNING to another problem — critics — the Potter mentor said careless remarks by fans often take away the confidence of his players. "I don't care what they say about Frank (Chan) and me, but it's different with the kids."

Harris asserted that not every one is qualified to criticize either, "but some do on a prejudiced basis." "We try to make a fair assessment of the squad, and we want it to win more than anyone else," he said.

SOMETIMES even the coaching staff is helpless to solve the problems at hand, Harris said. "For instance, in last week's game with Midland we defensed a 6-foot, 4-inch, 210 - pounder with a 6-0, 135-pounder. It's a handicap no matter how you look at it."

The Midland game was East Liverpool's opener and third for the Leopards. The Potters were working well against a man-to-man defense and held command of a 12-9 lead, when Midland switched to a zone. That was the turning point of the game, Harris said.

MIDLAND also began connecting from the outside against the Potters' make-shift zone, drawing the defenders out, and "forcing our small kids to take on their big ones," he said.

The Potters were down by only five points in the first half, when the tallest Blue and White cager left the game for a rest, after committing three personal fouls. "Then they spurted for 12 points," Harris said. Midland eventually won by a wide margin.

"WE PLAYED a very poor ball club in Alliance Saturday night," Harris asserted. Although he was wary of overconfidence on the part of East Liverpool, Harris saw his squad win its first game handily.

"This weekend, we take on Warren and Wellsville. We scouted Warren, and it's a good ball club, barely beaten by Sharon. Down in Wellsville, you can hardly hear yourself think, the noise is deafening, and we expect a good game."

HARRIS cited several illustrations to support his contentions that not only scholastic players lose their poise in tense games, but All-Americas do too. He referred to last year's NCAA championship battle between Loyola of Chicago, which beat Cincinnati with a stirring comeback.

Harris introduced Chan, reserve coach, who related several humorous incidents by his players. James H. Riggs was program chairman, subbing for C. Walter Ashbaugh. Ralph A. Finley, president, presided.

Browns About Set To Sign Warfield

Cleveland Browns expect to sign their No. 1 draft choice, Paul Warfield, this week.

That was the word from Art Modell, club president, after the Buffalo Bills of the American Football League withdrew their contract offer to the Ohio State halfback Tuesday.

Modell had been bidding against Dick Gallagher, general manager of the Bills, for the services of the Warren, Ohio, youth, but the Bills withdrew their offer after failing to hear from Warfield by Tuesday's deadline.

Modell would not say how much the Browns had offered Warfield. However, he has indicated he did not intend to make unreasonable bids in the battle with the Bills and it is believed Gallagher made Warfield a good financial offer.

Modell announced the signing of two Syracuse seniors, tackle Robert Meehan and William Schoonover, a halfback and fullback. Meehan, a 6-foot-4, 225 pounder, was the Browns' 13th draft choice. The Browns are considering him as a possible defensive end.

Schoonover, from Stroundsburg, Pa., was signed as a free agent. He is 5-foot-11 and weighs 200 pounds.

The Browns, disappointed over losing the division title after a strong start, begin practice today for the final regular season game at Washington, the same team they started against.

While the Browns still can hope for a second place finish, the disappointing slump after six straight victories may result in a shakeup on the team. The coaching staff will be re-evaluating present personnel, and thus Sunday's game could be the most important of the season for some of the Browns.

Important To State's Expansion

Rhodes Cites Strip Mine Leaders Role In Industry

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes says Ohio's coal strip mine leaders have an important role in the state's industrial expansion program.

Speaking to strip mine operators at an Ohio Reclamation Association dinner Tuesday night, the governor complimented the industry for its contribution to the state's economy. He also commended the association for its efforts in reclaiming Ohio's strip mine fields.

Rhodes cautioned, however, that Ohio's mining laws will be strictly enforced in the future and he promised more stringent regulations if strict enforcement fails to do the job.

"Ohio needs additional water supplies for industrial, domestic and recreation use," Rhodes said. "Here is a major use for thousands of strip mine acres from which coal has been recovered."

The governor said strip mine lands offer a chance to the land owner to develop a proper land use which would provide income from recreation and trees.

"We both are in the business of reclaiming Ohio," Rhodes said. "We are both interested in expanding present industry and in bringing new industry into the state."

He said he was impressed with tree growths, lakes and ponds, and the fish and wildlife which have been developed on strip mine lands.

Commenting on the need for outdoor recreational facilities, Rhodes said he recently instituted a $38 million, three-year program while the demands are for "twice that amount."

The governor called for operators and land owners to create recreational facilities on reclaimed lands from Youngstown to Portsmouth and at the same time to grow trees for the wood fibre industry.

"Recreation is an industry and industry means jobs," he said.

Flame's Accidentally Put Out Over Grave

WASHINGTON (AP) — The eternal flame over the grave of President John F. Kennedy was relighted a few minutes after it was accidentally extinguished Tuesday by holy water sprinkled on the grave by a group of school children.

John C. Metzler, superintendent of Arlington National Cemetery, said the children were taking turns sprinkling the grave when "the cap came off the bottle, and a stream of water hit the flame directly — extinguishing it."

Walkout Hits Firm

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP)—The Pyramid Rubber Co. has been hit by a walkout resulting from a dispute over wages. Some 100 production workers struck Tuesday in support of contract demands. The Rubber Workers Union is asking 30-cent hourly wage increases for male employes and 10-cent increases for women.

2 Communities Get Notices Of Water Pollution

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The communities of Euclid and Weston (Wood County) and Chase Brass & Copper Co. of Euclid have received notices of violation from the Ohio Water Pollution Control Board.

The board, which issued the violations Tuesday, contends that Euclid and the Chase firm there are permitting industrial waste discharges into storm sewers. Some of this waste eventually reaches Lake Erie, the board said.

At Weston, the board charges that citizens there approved a $40,000 bond issue five years ago for a sewage treatment plant but it hasn't been built.

The communities and the company are entitled to hearings. But failure to respond probably would mean turning the matter over to Ohio's attorney general. Fines under the law could reach $500 a day.

In other action, the board continued until March 10 a hearing for the Summit County community of Stow, calling for formal proposals and financing in connection with a major interceptor sewer to serve industry in that area.

The board said communities involved include Stow, Silver Lake and part of Tallmadge and Cuyahoga Falls.

Man, 42, Claimed In Cleveland Blaze

CLEVELAND (AP)—A man died in a fire that caused an estimated $5,000 damage to a one-story house at 1676 Lockwood Ave. in East Cleveland early today.

The victim, Robert L. Kelso, 42, was found on the floor of an upstairs bedroom in the frame dwelling. He was public relations director for the Cleveland Urban League.

The fire broke out in a photographic dark room in the rear of the basement, then burned through the floor and into the kitchen.

Robert Harris, deputy fire chief, set the loss and said a cigarette or electrical equipment may have caused the fire.

WISHING IS FOR CHILDREN

If only Santa will bring me a doll like this, wishes five-year-old Theresa Mikita with longing on her face. No doubt he will. Little girls' wishes almost always come true, especially with Moms and Dads around and with Christmas near. Theresa's dad is John Mikita who works in Midland's Cold Strip department.

Wishing is a game for children. As we grow older we learn that just wishing doesn't make it so. The things we'd like, the future we want, must be planned for and worked for.

This is true for Crucible, too. If we want a prosperous business, we must work for it. If we want a bright future, we must plan for it. A modern plant and a capable work force, these are the things we need, working together to produce the quality product our customers want.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Please reply to this letter in your column.

1. If, as you stated recently, "Hansen's disease," better known as leprosy, is not easily communicable, why are the lepers isolated?

2. Why do we need leprosariums, such as the institution in Carville, La.? And why have people been terrified of this loathesome disease since 1000 B.C.?

3. Why are only close relatives allowed to visit inmates in leprosariums? — R. E. M. OF KENHOSHA, WIS.

Dear R.E.M.: I welcome the opportunity to answer your questions, which I'm sure are shared by millions of other readers who know nothing about this disease.

1. The isolation of "Hansenites" is a hangover from the Biblical laws as set forth in the Book of Leviticus. Since little was known about the treatment of any disease in those days, separation from society was the law of the land. This included the mentally ill as well as the physically ill.

2. Such places as the leprosarium in Carville exist today because ignorant and-or fearful congressmen refuse to pass legislation which will enable victims of Hansen's disease to be treated in public hospitals.

3. It's not true that only close relatives can visit patients (not inmates, please) at the leprosarium. Anyone who wishes to visit a leprosarium may do so—as I have done.

Teetotalers' Problem

Dear Ann: Neither my husband nor I drink alcoholic beverages. Drinking is prohibited by our religion and we both were reared in the strict tradition of our church.

We moved to this city a few months ago. Because of my husband's position we are invited to many parties and I will be doing a great deal of entertaining.

Next month we will be giving a dinner party. My husband feels that if we don't serve cocktails we may be considered peculiar. Furthermore, he says the folks may not wish to come to our home again.

I don't want to hurt my husband in his work, but we've never had liquor in our home and I'm reluctant to start now. If you say I'm wrong I will reconsider.—FIRM BELIEVER.

Dear Believer: It's a sad state of affairs when people who don't serve liquor are afraid of being considered social freaks.

Anyone who would refuse to visit your home because he can't get a belt there would represent no great loss if he stayed away.

Divorce Dilemma

Dear Ann: Several weeks ago you had a letter in your column from a woman who wanted to know if marrying a divorced man was like buying a used car—as she phrased it, "buying somebody else's trouble." I'd like to add something from experience.

I'm 26 and — married a divorced man a year ago. I was divorced myself so I couldn't criticize him on that score. When we were going together he treated me as if I were a Dresden doll and he was afraid I'd break. Now that we are married I find that the things he said about his first wife seem to be true of him. He has a violent temper, no respect for the truth and he drinks too much.

My mother warned me that a divorced man would be a poor marriage risk. She said divorced women are different because women learn from a mistake but men don't. How about this? —DIM VIEW.

Dear Dim: Statistics don't support your mother's theory.

When both parties have been once divorced the chances for a successful marriage are slightly better than two rookies.

A two-time loser, however, has a lesser chance for a successful marriage. And the odds lengthen as the number of divorces go up.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

TV Isn't Pushing The Panic Button

Television's network chiefs seem to have taken to heart some of the criticism leveled at them last spring by U.S. Rep. Oren Harris after his investigation of program ratings.

Hal Humphrey

At the midway point in this TV season, CBS has canceled only one show ("Glynis"), NBC replaces just two ("Harry's Girls" and "Redigo") and three shows have been scuttled at ABC (Jerry Lewis, "100 Grand" and "Laughs for Sale").

THAT IS a relatively small turnover if one looks at the Nielson rating book. Nearly a score of shows, according to Nielsen's 1,100-TV-set divining rod, are rated below what has been considered the safe level.

Three of CBS' biggest-budgeted shows—Judy Garland, "Great Adventure," "East Side, West Side"—are failures if Nielsen is the judge. Yet the network apparently is going through the season with them.

In Judy's case, of course, it could be that CBS doesn't want to take the kind of financial bath which ABC took in settling with Jerry Lewis. Still, CBS has to consider not just one hour, but a whole evening when a show such as Judy's is smack in the middle of prime time and against NBC's top-rated "Bonanza."

NBC ITSELF is taking a beating Wednesday night with "Espionage," which recently showed up with a Nielsen of 8.8 against a 35.3 for "Beverly Hillbillies" and a 21.0 for "Ben Casey."

An NBC official insists, however, that "Espionage" is not going to be canceled. When asked if such a reluctance to cancel a low-rated show resulted from Rep. Harris lecture on ratings, the official said, "That is like asking a man when he quit beating his wife."

Last week NBC announced the appointment of Ronald S. Friedwalk as "manager, ratings." The network insists it is not a new post or title, but reports that Friedwald's duties are to "analyze the raw figures supplied by the rating services, then tell executives unsophisticated in such higher mathematics just what the figures mean."

ABC'S unsophisticated executives must be taking sedatives with every edition of the Nielsen ratings. Such shows as "Jamie McPheeters," Jimmy Dean and series are so far down the Nielsen list it takes a sounding line to reach them.

Yet none of the above-mentioned has been served notice to vacate the airwaves in January. So it would seem that the TV panic button is not being pushed as rapidly or as often as it has been in the past.

The trade press keeps saying that ratings are more important to TV men this season than ever before, Rep. Harris and his subcommittee notwithstanding. Well, if this is true, then the men at the network helms are reacting very cautiously.

I PREFER to think the network programmers have come to realize how shallow a probe 1,100 Nielsen-wired sets are—of 50 million TV homes—and that they are having some success convincing sponsors and agency men of this, too.

The industry's own group, the National Association of Broadcasters, is supposed to be studying the entire ratings situations so that it can come up with recommendations for making rates more accurate, or perhaps even its own industry-controlled ratings.

Rep. Harris also has said that he intends to continue to press the TV and radio industry for such housecleaning.

IF ALL THREE of these things took place, a general relaxation of tension would be felt from network presidents down to the producers, actors and pageboys; and the whole medium would improve.

It's probably too much to hope for, but this is the time of year when even cynical TV columnists make wishes.

Baldwin-Wallace May Join With Law School

CLEVELAND (AP) — Dr. Alfred B. Bonds, president of Baldwin-Wallace College, says the college may join in some sort of affiliation with Cleveland-Marshall Law School.

Wilson G. Stapleton, Law School dean, said Tuesday in response to queries about reported merger plans that the two schools have been negotiating for two years.

"Our trustees met (Tuesday) to consider conclusions that were arrived at by a committee representing both schools. Other than this, I have no comment to make at this time," said Stapleton.

The Executive Committee of the B-W Board is scheduled to meet Thursday, and reports are that a merger proposal will be considered.

Bar Group To Meet

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— A salary study has been prepared by Martin A. Janis, director of the Ohio Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction. It purports to show that the department must pay more to compete with similar agencies in other states, and it will be sent to Gov. James A. Rhodes late this week.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Update Your Thinking About Age

Do you remember when the expression "if I live to be a hundred" was used to denote the height of the improbable? Today such a remark is not considered an outrageous exaggeration, for thousands of men and women have celebrated their 100th birthday.

Ida Jean Kain

The 1960 census revealed that 3,830 men and 6,539 women were 100 years of age or older. While some of these centenarians have undoubtedly dropped from the list, their numbers are probably greater for in in 1960 there were 34,182 who were between 95 and 99 years of age.

TODAY THERE IS abundant proof that our life expectancy has been extended by 20 or more years. Since this is true, shouldn't we adjust our thinking to the new facts of life With people living to be 100, isn't 60 — and even 70 — a bit young to be considered the turning point toward old age?

Research on aging, conducted at the University of North Carolina, shows that "a person who thinks of himself as young or middle - aged rather than old, tends to have better reflexes, is better able to cope with stress and is better adjusted emotionally than those who don't think young. He tends very markedly to be mentally and physically more like a youthful person." The report concluded that thinking young is helpful in warding off old age. Truly, the power of an attitude is amazing!

On the physical side, age tests in many ways parallel health tests. Birthdays to the contrary, we do not all age at the same rate. Moreover, aging is not always an even process in the same person. The human machine is quite capable of reaching 100 years without wearing out in any vital part. There is scientific evidence that the vague aches and disgruntling ailments, commonly considered a normal part of the aging process, are not inevitable.

WHILE WE MAY or may not aspire to a ripe old age, everyone wants to keep vigorously healthy and live zestfully all the days of his life. Today we have the science of geriatrics which is the branch of medicine that deals with age. But why not think of it as the anti-aging medical service?

Heredity is a factor that cannot be denied, for it plays a role in determining longevity. But apart from this, who is the likely candidate to make the century run? Barring accident, it's probably the person who expects to, and lives accordingly. He or she will be properly nourished, but not overweight. And from the looks of things now, our candidate will be a walker. Whoever enjoys regular walking appears to take the years in stride. One thing for sure, he will have a happy attitude toward life and think this world is a pretty good place in which to live.

So, as Jonathan Swift expressed it: "May you live all the days of your life!"

Mother Of Oswald Reported Great Admirer Of Kennedy

DALLAS (AP) — The housewife who sheltered the family of President Kennedy's accused assassin says Marina Oswald was a great admirer of the nation's chief executive.

Mrs. Ruth Paine, who took Russian-born Mrs. Lee Harvey Oswald into her home at nearby Irving for two months, told about the Oswalds' family life in an interview Tuesday with newsman Wes Wise of Dallas station KRLD-TV.

On the day of the assassination, Mrs. Paine said she arose before Mrs. Oswald and her children, turned on the television set so they could watch Kennedy's arrival, and took her own young daughter to the dentist.

"I left the television on for Marina," Mrs. Paine said, "because I knew of the great admiration she had for the President."

Before the day ended Oswald was arrested and charged with killing both Kennedy and Policeman J.D. Tippit. About 48 hours later a nationwide television audience and scores of newsmen saw Jack Ruby, Dallas striptease joint owner, kill Oswald.

Mrs. Paine said Mrs. Oswald came to live with her Sept. 24 because Oswald was out of work and worried about their new baby, expected in about a month.

Mrs. Oswald now is held in protective custody of the U. S. Secret Service at an undisclosed spot.

Mrs. Paine said when they learned a hidden rifleman had killed the President, Mrs. Oswald was almost overcome with grief and remarked how "awful it will be for Mrs. Kennedy to raise those two little children without a father."

Mrs. Paine said she and her husband met the Oswalds at a party before the Oswalds left Dallas to live briefly in New Orleans.

Closed Refinery In Paulding May Be Reactivated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Paulding Sugar Beet Growers Association and Paulding Sugar Co., planning to reactivate a closed refinery in Paulding County, Ohio, have applied to the Agriculture Department for a 34,000-ton sugar beet allotment.

The Ohio application was among 33 on which the department opened three days of hearings Tuesday. The bids came from 23 states—with the first five applicants, including the Paulding groups, seeking more tonnage than the department legally can dispense.

Enough acreage to grow 179,300 tons of beets remains in a "national sugar beet acreage reserve " for allotment through 1966. The five applicants, from Ohio, New York, Tennessee, Texas and Oklahoma, asked a total of 249,000 acres for the 1965 and 1966 growing seasons.

The beets for the Paulding interests would be grown by farmers in Paulding, Van Wert, Mercer, Williams, Fulton, Henry and Defiance counties in Ohio and six Indiana counties.

A three-man board took Tuesday's requests under advisement as it readied to hear the 28 other applications.

Retired Bookkeeper Leaves Over 2 Million

Probate papers revealed Tuesday that Magee, who died Oct. 16, left his estate in trust. His widow, E. Marie, a nephew and two nieces will each receive 15 per cent of the income from the trust. He had no children.

Fall Kills Woman

CINCINNATI (AP) — A fall down an elevator shaft Tuesday killed Miss Ada Leslie, 77. Police said she was going to her fifth-floor apartment when she accidentally stepped through the open elevator door and fell to the basement.

Junior Editors Quiz on JEEPS

QUESTION: How did the jeep get its name?

ANSWER: The jeep was developed during the 1930's as part of a program for motorization of the U. S. Army. It was first thought of as a fast scouting car to use in place of the motorcycle—but it was soon found that the little jeep could do an amazing amount of work. Only 11 feet long, its four-wheel drive and powerful four-cylinder engine, combined with a light body, enabled it to plow through mud; jolt its way over rock trails; cross rickety bridges. It could carry six men, serve as an ambulance, fight fire, and could be used as a mobile machine gun mount or to haul ammunition.

Because of these capabilities, the little car's official name was General Purpose vehicle, or G. P. The sounds of "G" and "P" suggested its name, "jeep." This is only one explanation of the name; not everyone agrees to it. Some say it came from a cartoon character created by E. C. Segar. When used with capitals, the word jeep is a trademark for a present-day civilian car of similar type.

FOR YOU TO DO: The big picture shows a jeep sharing a moment of triumph. Can you guess what three-star general is riding toward us? It is the American general, Mark Clark, riding into Rome after his troops had taken that city during World War II.

★ ★ ★

Karroll Subbert of Manilla, Iowa, wins today's grand prize of a 20-volume set of World Book Encyclopedia for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review and you too may win a set.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I make lighter, higher, and fluffier omelettes?

A. You can accomplish this by beating the whites and yolks separately then mixing together just before putting the eggs into your skillet. The large amount of air you've whipped into your mixture will produce the kind of omelettes you're striving for.

Q. What can I do about the removal of a discoloration in my washbowl or bathtub caused by a dripping faucet?

A. This will usually vanish when a paste of cream of tartar and peroxide is applied with a stiff brush. Plain old vinegar is sometimes very effective, too.

Q. I always have trouble when pinning on or cutting the patterns from slippery fabrics. Do you have any suggestions?

A. Try spreading your fabric on a clean rug or carpet, whose nap should hold it still enough for easier work.

Q. How can I produce a rough imitation sanded finish on plastered walls?

A. By mixing some cornmeal with your paint before applying it. The fine particles of the meal should be sifted out and the coarser portions stirred into the paint. The cornmeal, being of approximately the same density as the paint, will stay suspended in the mixture. The amount of sanded finish is governed, of course, by the amount of cornmeal you add to your paint.

Q. How can I strengthen glassware, and make it less fragile?

A. Put your glassware into a vessel filled with slightly salted water which you allow to come slowly to a boil. The slower your boiling, the hardier your glassware.

City Men Unhurt In Area Mishap

No one was injured in two area mishaps investigated by the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon Monday.

A car driven by W. P. Blatch, 69, of Dewey Ave. slid off Route 7 a mile north of East Fairfield at 3:40 p. m. onto the berm, and a car operated by John Douglas Morrell, 28, of 131½ W. 6th St. slid off the highway and struck his car.

Damage was moderate, officers said.

A truck driven by Harry Crowl Jr., 23, of East Palestine R. D. 1 rounded a curve of Route 170 about three miles south of East Palestine at 10:30 p. m., and collided with an oncoming truck driven by Jack E. Lower, 31, of Negley R. D. 1.

Crowl was charged with driving left of center. Damage was moderate, the patrol reported.

Cage Fans Cautioned On Parking Violations

Fans attending basketball games at Memorial Auditorium must not violate parking regulations or their autos will be ticketed — towed away, if necessary — Police Chief A. J. Radeschi warned today.

Numerous parking violations were reported at the two home games Friday and Saturday, the chief said. Cars were found blocking alleys and driveways and parked in restricted areas. At least three were towed away, the chief said.

In cases where cars are parked so as to block possible runs by fire equipment, they will be towed away, the chief warned.

30 Years Of Theater

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — When the Grand Theatre opened here on Aug. 10, 1933, Charles B. Hall attended, and he has been going pretty regularly since. He says he has attended 1,775 movies there and paid $558.62 in admissions.

11 At Christmas Fete Of Highlandtown Unit

Mrs. Verla Culp, president, conducted business. The women will pack baskets for needy families Dec. 23. Any donations are to be left at the fire station by 7 p. m. that date.

Plans were made to hold a free teen-age record hop at the station New Year's Eve beginning at 9.

The Dec. 20 record hop has been canceled. The women voted to purchase 200 feet of booster line for the fire department and a first aid kit.

Next meeting is Jan. 13.

36 Get Food Permit

LISBON — The County Health Department has issued 36 foot licenses for 1964, according to Dr. C. S. Palmer, health commissioner. Last year, 200 of the licenses were issued. Permits for 1964 must be obtained before Jan. 1, Palmer warned.
